BGS Inducts Creed, King, Lohrke

The Samford chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma national business honorary society inducted Provost Brad Creed and School of Business faculty members James E. King, Jr., and Cynthia Frownfelter Lohrke during its annual meeting in May.

Beta Gamma Sigma chapters are located only at schools accredited by AACSB—The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. The society also inducted 11 undergraduate and seven M.B.A. students, including one—Whitney Taylor Bowers—who had already been inducted as an undergraduate. ■

Staff Advisory Council Officers, Members Named

Sheila Thomas (Provost's Office) has been named president of the new Staff Advisory Council. Anethia Reliford (Human Resources) is president elect, and Tim McRae (Computer & Telecommunications Services) is secretary.

The council was established this spring to provide a voice in University matters for full-time, nonfaculty employees. Among its goals are to enhance communication among divisions, departments and the administration, and to provide a forum for staff to discuss issues and concerns.

Members of the council are:

Two-Year Term—Marilyn Bailey (Bookstore), Kay Baugher (Bursar's Office), Sandy Fox (Library), Paul Kelly (Athletics), Glenda Martin (Arts and Sciences), Jan Paine (Nursing) and Shauna Yelton (Student Health Services).

Three-Year Term—Christy Allen (University Relations), Faye Howell (Student Services), Jim Lewis (Law), Tim McRae, Aleesa Naish (Performing Arts), Anethia Reliford and Sheila Thomas. ■

- Lee Carmon (Student Services) in the death of her mother, Tee Jackson, in June.

Dear Dr. Corts & Samford Family,

Thank you for your prayers of support during the time of my father's passing. God's grace triumphed over what otherwise would have been one of life's toughest moments.

George Atchley

Dear Samford Family,

My family and I would like to thank you for all your kindness, support and prayers during this difficult time. The lovely plant was a thoughtful and much appreciated gesture.

Sincerely,
Debbie England

Dear Samford University Family,

Thank you so much for all of your concern and support during this very difficult time. The fresh flower spray sent in memory of Scott was beautiful. Thank you for remembering him.

Scott looked forward to being a part of the Samford University family, and he was especially excited about his new job at PARCA. I regret so much that each of you did not have the opportunity to get to know him. He was such a loving and generous person.

Again, your support has been very comforting to us.

Most sincerely,
Helen and Cindy Ryland

Dear Dr. and Mrs. Corts and Samford Family,

Thank you so much for the beautiful plant, as well as the many kind words, thoughts and prayers when I lost Mom. It is so comforting to work in such a caring community.

Lee and Charlie Carmon

Library Selected to Assess Information Literacy Skills

Samford University Library is one of 30 institutions selected to participate in the 2003–04 Phase II of Project SAILS, Standardized Assessment of Information Literacy Skills.

The purpose of the project is to create a nationally recognized assessment instrument that will allow institutions to establish internal and peer benchmarks of information literacy skills.

Career Development Earns Two Achievement Awards

Samford's Career Development Center received two Achievement Awards at the summer conference of the Alabama Association of Colleges and Employers. The center was recognized in the Audiovisual category for its program, "Real World 101," and in Publications for its Résumés and Letters.

Alice Martin is director of the Career Development Center.

Got a Style Question? Check the Manual Online

If the word Dean is capitalized before a name (Dean David Chapman), should it capitalized when it follows the name?

Do you use a comma after that next-to-last reference in a series? Is it Business, Music, and Pharmacy or Business, Music and Pharmacy?

You can check the Samford Style Manual online for answers to these and a myriad of publications style questions. Publications Manager Janica York and Editorial Assistant Jana Pearison compiled the manual over a period of months. Check it out at www.samford.edu/groups/unirel/stylemanual/index.html. ■

Welcome Back to Faculty

Faculty Workshop begins Monday, Aug. 18, in Harrison Theatre. Coffee and pastries will be available at 8 a.m.

Samford Nurse Anesthesia Program Accredited, Gets $310,495 Grant

Samford University's new graduate-level nurse anesthesia program has received accreditation from the Council on Accreditation [COA] of Nurse Anesthesia Education Programs. The program also received a $310,495 Title VII federal grant from the Health Resources and Services Administration to assist with program development.

Students completing the program will receive a master of science in nursing degree from Samford's Ida V. Moffett School of Nursing and will fulfill requirements to take the Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetist [CRNA] exam.

Graduates will help meet a national CRNA shortage that is more severe in the Southeast. The new program is one of two in Alabama and 90 in the nation. The first class will begin work this month and graduate in December of 2005.

Accreditation came less than 10 months after the first steps were taken to seek the designation. Normally, universities starting nurse anesthesia programs are advised to allow a minimum of 18 months to achieve accreditation.

"Our ability to achieve accreditation so quickly was due to the firm administrative and academic foundation present within the Ida V. Moffett School of Nursing, the cooperation of the Council on Accreditation, and the efforts of school of nursing faculty and administrators," said Dr. Michael A. Fiedler, chair of the Department of Nurse Anesthesia.

The Title VII grant—the first advanced nursing training grant ever awarded to the Samford nursing school—will assist with faculty salaries, curriculum development, program consultants and capital equipment, such as computers and instructional photography and video equipment.

"The financial support provided by the grant will significantly enhance the development and implementation phases of the anesthesia program," said Dean Nena F. Sanders of the nursing school. ■

Directors of NSSE and Lilly Fellows to Speak at Faculty Workshop

George Kuh, Chancellor's professor of higher education at Indiana University–Bloomington, and Mark R. Schwehn, dean of Christ College and professor of humanities at Valparaiso University, will speak during the annual Faculty Workshop this month.

The workshop will be Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 18–19, in Harrison Theatre.

Kuh directs IU's Center for Postsecondary Research, Policy and Planning, which houses the National Survey of Student Engagement [NSSE], the NSSE Institute for Effective Educational Practice and the College Student Experiences Questionnaire Research Program.

Schwehn is project director of the Lilly Fellows Program in Humanities and the Arts. His book, Exiles from Eden: Religion and the Academic Vocation in America, was published in 1993 by Oxford University Press.

Kuh and Schwehn will both speak Tuesday.

Highlighting the Monday schedule will be an introduction of the new Transformational Learning Project at 8:45 a.m. and President Thomas E. Corts' conversation at 11:15 a.m. Coffee and pastries will be available at 8 a.m. Religion Department Chair Ken Roxburgh will present a devotional at 8:30 a.m., and Provost Brad Creed will introduce new faculty members at 10:15 a.m. ■

Business Names Dr. Marlene Reed University Professor

Samford has named Dr. Marlene M. Reed the Margaret Gage Bush University Professor. She succeeds Dr. Edward Felton, who retired in January, as holder of the endowed chair.

Dr. Marlene Reed

The appointment was announced in June by School of Business Dean Carl W. Gooding.

A Samford faculty member since 1981, Reed has been professor of entrepreneurship and economics. She was named Alabama Professor of the Year by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching in 1994. She serves on the Council of Economic Advisers for the Birmingham Regional Chamber of Commerce.

A regular lecturer on international business in Ukraine and Armenia, Reed has written numerous articles and case studies in journals and textbooks. She is past president of the Southwest Case Research Association and is a director of the North American Case Research Association. ■
