Momentum: A Dance Concert

April 4–6, 7:30 p.m.
April 7, 2:30 p.m.
Harrison Theatre

Quotable

Samford faculty experts share thoughts with media.

John Carroll (Law) to Birmingham's Fox 6 TV News March 7 on the constitutionality of using drones in the U.S.

"Before we take a life, there has to be due process. Now, we've put that power in the president and the CIA."

Timothy George (Divinity) to ABC 33/40 News March 14 on his reaction to the election of Pope Francis.

"We have strong differences in doctrine, theology and liturgy that separate us one from another. But when it comes to these fundamental issues of human rights, of dignity, of freedom of religion, we stand together and we must stand together in a common and allied cause."

Woody Hartzog (Law) to Birmingham's CBS 42 News Feb. 18 on the issue of personal privacy and how companies collect information on people through credit card use, voter registration information, etc.

"The term privacy is a little overextended . . . It is incredible what analytics are able to determine from chunks of data. And so companies now have an incredible capability to discern lots of facts, maybe not 100%, but close enough, with a relatively small amount of data."

Samford's ninth annual Old Howard 100 Bike Ride is set for Saturday, April 20, in Marion, Ala., and surrounding counties. For information and registration, go to http://howard.samford.edu/oldhoward/.

Trustees Make Faculty Appointments

McWhorter School of Pharmacy professor Michael Kendrach was appointed as the new Anthony and Marianne Bruno Professor in Pharmacy by the Samford board of trustees executive committee during its regular meeting Feb. 26. Kendrach has been a Samford pharmacy faculty member since 1993. Twenty other faculty members were reappointed to endowed chairs.

The executive board also approved two new faculty members: Lisa Allison, assistant professor of nursing. Allison anticipates completing the doctor of nursing practice degree this spring from the University of Alabama. Since 1999, she has been a certified registered nurse anesthetist at Children's Hospital of Alabama.

William Nathan Kirkpatrick, assistant professor of kinesiology and nutrition science. Kirkpatrick has a doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Georgia and currently is assistant professor at Belhaven University, Jackson, Miss.

In addition, trustees gave formal approval to the naming of a new language technology center in the Department of World Languages and Cultures for retired faculty member Grace Weeks Márquez. A 1942 Samford graduate, Márquez served on the Spanish faculty and was department chair before her retirement. She was founder of Samford's first language laboratory in the 1960s. The new facility, located in Chapman Hall, is scheduled for completion during the summer of 2013. ■

Nursing Students Named 'Brand Ambassadors'

Two Samford University nursing students have been named brand ambassadors for the month.

Senior Hannah Dawson and junior Devynne Roahrig were selected after being nominated by members of the Samford community.

Dawson

Dawson, a team captain of the two-time Southern Conference champion women's basketball team, was cited for her academic and clinical achievements as well as her community involvement. She has worked with Community Kitchen of Birmingham, Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure, Samaritans' Feet, United Way, Boo at the Zoo, Serve our City, March of Dimes and as a volunteer for the Sunshine Room for children staying at Children's Hospital while awaiting surgery.

"Being a nursing major alone requires time commitment and so does being a varsity athlete. Hannah has handled both well," said the person nominating her. "[The] faculty has complimented her on her exceptional performance in the clinical setting. She is a leader among her peers and a hard worker. She will leave a 12 hour clinical shift and go straight to basketball practice without any complaints. Being on her feet for 12 hours does not interfere with her basketball practice. She gives 110 percent."

Out & About

Jennifer Beall (Pharmacy) was appointed chair-elect of the Southeastern Pharmacy Experiential Education Consortium. She presented "An Update on Anticoagulation for Management of Venous Thromboembolism" to the Jefferson County Pharmaceutical Association.

Karen Birkenfeld, Kristie Chandler, Jonathan Davis, Clara Gerhardt, Celeste Hill and Amy Hoaglund (Education and Professional Studies), along with 10 students, presented at the Southeastern Council on Family Relations in Birmingham February 21–23.

Gary Bumgarner (Pharmacy) received the Second Place Poster Judges Award for his poster presented with three others, "Impact of a Faith-based Diabetes Education/Support Group: A Focus on Rural Sumter County," at the 14th annual Rural Health Conference at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa Feb. 20. Bumgarner also presented with three others, "Impact of Faith-based Diabetic Education/Support Group: A Focus on Perry County, Alabama," at the same meeting.

John Carroll (Law) attended the annual meeting of the International Society of Barristers the week of March 11. He is an academic fellow in the organization dedicated to excellence and integrity in advocacy. Carroll was interviewed March 7 by Birmingham's Fox News TV affiliate on the use of drones (see Quotable, Page 1) and by NBC-13 on a Shelby County voting rights lawsuit argued before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Marian Carter (Nursing) presented portions of "Enrollment Management in the Digital World: From Pen to Mouse" with Hilda Abreu (University of Texas Health Center San Antonio) and Deidre Hughes (George Washington University) at the American Association of Colleges of Nursing annual meeting in Washington, D.C., in March.

Mark Castle (Theatre) and Randall Richardson (Music) recently arranged for senior music theatre students to participate in "Amy Murphy's Broadway Intensive Audition Weekend" in New York City. In addition to observing the Broadway Intensive, they organized a masterclass with a casting associate of the Network Presentations casting agency for junior music theatre majors.

Andrea Collins (Nursing) published "Practice Implications for Preventing Population Vulnerability Related to Vitamin D Status" in the Journal of the American Association of Nurse Practitioners (2013), 25, 109-118.

Joel Davis (Music) presented "A Soundtrack of Reconciliation: Music, Race Relations, and Redemption in Mississippi ReMixed" at Valparaiso University's Christ College Symposium Feb 21. The presentation featured live performances from his original score for the 2010 PBS documentary Mississippi ReMixed, which was produced by Ottewell Media in conjunction with Mississippi Public Broadcasting. In March, Davis completed work on the soundtrack for Jerry and Diane, an independent comedy by Breve Films. His previous collaboration with Breve Films, the 2013 short film Sonny, has been accepted into three international film festivals, with the world premiere screening scheduled for March 22 at Laemmle's Music Hall in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Carter

Nelson

Renee DeHart (Pharmacy), with eight others, published "Academic Help-Seeking Behavior Among Student Pharmacists" in the American Journal of Pharmaceutical Education in February. DeHart served as an abstract reviewer for the 2013 American College of Clinical Pharmacy Virtual Poster Symposium.

Dee Dugan and Mark Smith (Pharmacy) presented "The Jefferson County Collaborative Experience and Approach with Diabetic Patients" during the Diabetes Population of Focus Webinar for the Patient Safety and Clinical Pharmacy Services collaborative Feb. 14.

Debbie Duke (Nursing) received a Cities for Life Collaboration Grant from the American Academy of Family Physicians Foundation to offer diabetes education through the Samford Congregational Health program.

Lindsey Elmore (Pharmacy) was appointed to the American Pharmacist Association House of Delegates. She received a National Association of Chain Drug Store 2013 Heart to Heart Community Health Fair Grant to provide blood sugar, blood pressure, body composition and cholesterol screenings to the public. The goal was to screen 150 people in March.

David Finn and Clara Gerhardt (Education and Professional Studies) were featured March 14 in an interview with ABC 33/40 in Birmingham during its Focus at Four segment. They shared insight on a recent study that tracks an increase in one-child families.

Mike Floyd (Law) spoke at a two-day federal judicial conference in Brasilia, Brazil, on American experiences with class actions and other forms of aggregate litigation. He worked with Brazilian officials to finalize a cooperation agreement between Cumberland School of Law and Brazil's Tribuna Regional Federal da Primeira Regiao and the Escola da Magistratura. The agreement will enable Cumberland to continue to attract master of comparative law students in Brazil.

Charles Ford (Interior Architecture) and Amy Boyett (Georgia Southern University, School of Ecology) will present their preliminary research of the longitudinal study, "Student Awareness and Implementation of Building Code Expectations within Students' Junior and Senior Year Design Concept Coursework," at the 2013 Florida International University Interior Design Symposium April 29.

Clara Gerhardt (Family Studies) was recognized for outstanding service to the Alabama Board of Examiners in Psychology, to which she was appointed by the Governor of Alabama. Gerhardt has been chairperson of the board twice and has seen it through two sunset reviews during her 10 years of service. Also, her book Parent-Child Relations: An Introduction to Parenting Ninth Edition, has been released internationally by Pearson Publishers with appropriate changes for the market such as a new cover, different websites and metric weights. It was released in the U.S. and digitally earlier this year.

Wendy Greene (Law) presented an invited paper, "Gender Equality in the Workplace: Appearance Matters," March 1 at Florida

Roahrig

Roahrig serves as a resident assistant in Pittman Hall in addition to her nursing studies. She was nominated by a fellow student.

"She has meant so much to me and many others. She is always smiling and serving others," said her nominator. "She loves Samford and makes the people around her want to love it too. She has helped make Samford a home for me."

Roahrig is a community service ambassador and part of the Office of Admission student recruitment team. She also is involved in leading a Bible study, is actively involved with The Church at Brook Hills and served as a 2012 Connections leader.

In a new initiative launched in January 2013, Samford's Office of Marketing and Communication is promoting the concept of every member of the university community as a "brand ambassador." As part of the emphasis, the Office of Marketing and Communication is recognizing a "brand ambassador of the month" from the university community. The first brand ambassadors were announced in February.

Anyone can suggest someone as an outstanding Samford brand ambassador either for a specific action or their general work on behalf of the university. Nominations should be submitted in writing to samnews@samford.edu. ■

International University's Law Review Symposium on "Minding the Gap: Reflection on the Achievement Gap Between Men and Women in the Workplce in 2013." She also presented March 8 at the University of California-Berkeley during a symposium devoted to the recently-published anthology, "Presumed Innocent: The Intersections of Race and Class for Women in America."

Woody Hartzog (Law) gave a talk at the University of Washington School of Law on privacy at a symposium entitled "The Disclosure Crisis." He published an article coauthored by Evan Selinger, "Obscurity: A Better Way to Think About Your Data Than 'Privacy," in The Atlantic Jan. 17. To access this article go to http://www.theatlantic.com/technology/archive/2013/01/obscurity-a-better-way-to-think-about-your-data-than-privacy. The article was mentioned in Bloomberg's Business Week. To access this posting go to http://www.businessweek.com/articles/2013-01-24/you-cant-hide-from-facebook-graph-search. In addition, the director of security policy and global privacy officer at Intel Corporation commented in his blog about Hartzog's Atlantic article, and The Nation's writer, Ari Melber, commented on the piece. Hartzog was quoted Jan. 19 in the CNBC article,, "New Facebook Tool, Te'o Scandal Fan Flames of Privacy Debate," and Jan. 28 in the Forbes article "Why I Can't Claim My $10 From Facebook In The 'Sponsored Stories' Settlement." He was also quoted in the Ohio State Law School magazine. Hartzog presented "Obscurity by Design" to faculty at Elon University Law School, guest-lectured in a course on Internet Law and met with the Intellectual Property Student Organization.

Michael Hogue (Pharmacy) completed his two-year term as the national president of the American Pharmacists Association's Academy of Pharmacy Practice and Management at the Association's Annual Meeting March 1-4 in Los Angeles, Calif. He was recognized for his service on both the APhA Board of Trustees and the Board of Pharmaceutical Specialities. Hogue also wrote a chapter entitled "Unique Residency Programs" with four others for the book, Roadmap to Postgraduate Training in Pharmacy, published by McGraw-Hill this year.

Jenny Layton (Biological and Environmental Sciences) presented "Genetic Analysis of Loggerhead Sea Turtle Hatchlings from the Alabama Coast" at the 33rd annual symposium on Sea Turtle Biology and Conservation in Baltimore, Md. Miranda Goins (ASPIRE grant recipient), Rivvi Kukkamalla (Clark Scholar) and Jessica Delo (master of science in environmental management graduate) all contributed to this research.

David Luthin (Pharmacy) received the Cross and Flame Award from Riverchase United Methodist Church in recognition of outstanding service to children and youth.

John Mayfield (History) has been appointed to the editorial board of the Alabama Review, the quarterly journal of the Alabama Historical Association.

John Mitcham (History/CORE) served as chair and commentator on a panel, "Identity, the Media, and Decolonization," at the Graduate Conference on Power and Struggle in Tuscaloosa, Ala., March 1. He presented a paper, "Imagining Empire: Themes of Race and Imperial Unity in Late Victorian Invasion Literature," at the International Society of Military History Conference in New Orleans, La., March 15. He presented a paper, "An Imperial Brotherhood: Race, Britishness, and the Boy Scouts," at the Britain and the World Conference in Austin, Texas. He also chaired and served as commentator on another panel at the Texas meeting on "Hunting and the Empire."

Jack Nelson (Law) told Birmingham's CBS-42 News in an interview that, while companies have a right to develop their own policies, having a policy that limits what employees are able to do in an emergency isn't a smart legal move. The interview was in response to a California case in which a woman died because company policy did not allow a nursing home worker to assist her.

Valerie Prince (Pharmacy) and six others published "Generic Medications and Blood Pressure Control in Diabetic Hypertensive Subjects: Results from the Reasons for Geographic and Racial Differences in Stroke (REGARDS) Study" in Diabetic Care 36:591-597;2013.

Randall Richardson (Music) and Don Sandley (Theatre) recently presented a masterclass entitled "You Got the Call-Back? Now What?" at the Southeastern Theatre Conference in Louisville Ky.

Ken Roxburgh (Religion) taught united Sunday School class on the four gospels during the Sundays of February 2013 at Canterbury United Methodist Church in Mountain Brook. He spoke on "The State of the Church" at Canterbury's Legacy Lunch in February. Roxburgh also preached Sunday, March 3, at Shades Crest Baptist Church.

Pamela Sims (Pharmacy) provided a six-hour program, "The Top 200 Drugs Patients Take: Their Impact on Dentistry," to the 2013 Northwest District Dental Association in Pensacola, Fla., Feb. 8.

Larry Thompson (Art) recently was selected and led career mentor sessions for junior faculty at the 101st annual meeting of the College Art Association in New York.

Sandra Willis (Psychology) presented "A History of Samford University's Psychology Department" at the Southeastern Psychological Association (SEPA) History Symposium. Jackie Goldstein (Psychology) contributed by interviewing Jan Teal (Psychology, ret.), former professor and chair of the department prior to Stephen Chew's arrival in 1993. Willis also was nominated for the office of secretary-treasurer of the SEPA, a regional organization of American Psychological Association with more than 3,000 psychologist researchers and clinicians. ■
