Hello again!

Fall flies by, but it’s one of the most exhilarating times of the year! Football games, homecoming, applications and testing are part of the package. We understand that life is busy. Our staff is also busy working with prospective students to ensure their success this fall.

As we write this Fall 2019 newsletter, we’re continually inspired by how you invest in your students. Thank you for encouraging them and making their next steps seem not so overwhelming.

Because we appreciate your hard work so much, we’ve created a high school counselor webpage just for you. The webpage has resources like a student referral form and links to register for Samford counselor events in your city.

“At Samford we know that success after graduation means not only advancing professional goals, but also pursuing personal growth in purpose and faith. Nurturing student engagement is important in accomplishing this mission.”

- Samford University President, Dr. Andrew Westmoreland

Samford is the #3 university in the nation for Student Engagement (The Wall Street Journal, 2020)

Recruitment Events in Your City

Every fall we travel across the country to meet with prospective students in your city. Samford faculty, students, parents and alumni will be present at these events to share their Samford experiences and answer questions. Please spread the word to your students and parents that Samford is coming to them!

Engaging Your Students

We haven’t been surprised by the rankings that have been published the past few years. The Samford education is top-tier, and we continually strive to develop our students holistically. Are your students interested? Refer a student by clicking below.

11th Consecutive Year of Record Enrollment

Every fall we travel across the country to meet with prospective students in your city. Samford faculty, students, parents and alumni will be present at these events to share their Samford experiences and answer questions. Please spread the word to your students and parents that Samford is coming to them!

Preview Days at Samford

Preview Days continue to be an amazing opportunity for students and families to visit campus. With the addition of our Music Backstage Pass, Exploring the Health Sciences and Diversity Preview Night, guests now have an even better opportunity to get to know what Samford can offer. Our final Preview Day of the fall will be November 16th.

Tell Your Students
Refer a Student
Learn More
Share Samford

Samford University is an Equal Opportunity Educational Institution/Employer. Samford University, 800 Lakeshore Drive, Birmingham, AL 35229