Thurgood Marshall Symposium to Address Voting Rights

Thurgood Marshall Symposium

From Selma to Shelby: The Fight for Voting Rights

Featuring Ryan Haygood -
President & CEO of the New Jersey Institute for Social Justice
("The Institute")

Friday, March 4, 2016 at Noon

Location: The Great Room
Samford University's
Cumberland School of Law

FREE and open to the public. One hour of CLE credit.
Refreshments will be served following the presentation.

The Thurgood Marshall Symposium is an annual event hosted by the Black Law Students Association at Cumberland School of Law. The purpose of the symposium is to provide students, attorneys and the public critical information about legal issues affecting minorities.

Two Teams Place in Top Five at Regional Competition

Please join the Trial Advocacy Board in congratulating our 2016 Mediation Team for placing third (Shadi Jaraysi and Kevin Bufford) and fifth (Scott DeZouche and Miranda Coley) in the 2016 Regional Mediation Competition at Memphis School of Law. On Fri., February 26, 12 teams participated in the Regional Mediation Competition. They demonstrated a wave of great talent. The competition consisted of two rounds in which students negotiated settlement deals for their clients in hypothetical disputes. These disputes were anything but simple, as every client had various social, emotional, professional, legal, and financial interest that complicated the negotiation process. Both of our teams demonstrated incredible professionalism and creativity.

Law School Announcements

Writing Competition Open to Students and Faculty

Students and faculty are invited to participate in the 2016 American Inns of Court Warren E. Burger Prize writing competition. The submission deadline for the 2016 Warren E. Burger Prize is July 1, 2016. For more information, please contact Cindy Dennis at (571) 319-4703.

Register for the Shores Moot Court Competition

Registration is now open for the Shores Moot Court Competition. The Shores is an interschool competition for 2Ls and 3Ls only. The Competition will be held the week of April 2 with the final round on Sat. April 9 during Admitted Students/Alumni Weekend.

Moot court differs from trial advocacy because it is appellate advocacy, a demonstration of the appeals process after the trial has already concluded. Instead of questioning witnesses and arguing in front of a jury, advocates make their case to a panel of judges as to why their side should win on a certain point of law. The Shores does not have a writing component. Participants will be given a record of the case, and a brief for both the petitioner and the respondent. Because it is a closed universe problem participants will not have to do outside case research, but may find it helpful to research the cases cited in the briefs when crafting the argument. The judges will be actual judges, attorneys and National Team Coaches. The finals judges, will all be actual judges. You will be scored and advanced as individuals, and therefore do not need to participate with a partner.

Register by Thurs. March 10 at 11:59 p. m. The $15 entry fee (cash in a marked envelope or check made payable to Cumberland Moot Court Board) may be slid under the Moot Court door (upper level of the Great Room) or given to Kate Furek or Haley Stencil.

University Addiction Support Group Meets Weekly

The newly formed university addiction support group plans to meet once per week from 7-8 p.m. through May 5 in Burns Hall, Room 311. Students and those supporting friends who struggle with addiction are invited to attend. Though the group is being established to support any addictive behaviors, the primary focus will be on drug and alcohol issues. As many of you know, this is an area affecting young lawyers at a higher than average rate, as highlighted in a recent ABA Journal article. If you have questions or concerns, please see Mrs. Nelson in Student Services.
