

Assistant/Associate Professor
Undergraduate Program, Community Health Nursing
(9-month, Tenure Track)

Samford University's Moffett & Sanders School of Nursing invites individuals interested in serving in a Christian university environment to submit an application for a full-time Assistant/Associate Professor faculty position. This faculty position is a nine-month, tenure track appointment. The individual hired in this position will be responsible for classroom teaching, clinical supervision and simulation of undergraduate nursing students in courses with community health nursing content. The position may be associated with one or more courses each semester depending on need. The person filling this position must be willing to work days, evenings, and occasional weekends as need dictates.

Qualified candidates will hold doctoral degree in nursing from a CCNE, CNEA, or ACEN accredited school of nursing; and hold an unencumbered RN license in the state of Alabama. They must have a minimum of five years of clinical practice experience within the last 10 years. Previous clinical teaching and clinical supervisory experience with undergraduate students is preferred.

The College of Health Sciences is an innovative initiative for Samford University. The college includes four schools: Moffett & Sanders School of Nursing, McWhorter School of Pharmacy, School of Health Professions and School of Public Health. The college offers multiple degree programs and majors within the health sciences with an interprofessional education focus that reflects today's team approach to health care delivery and professional practice. The college affords faculty special opportunities for cross-disciplinary collaboration.
