The student handbook becomes effective when a student becomes enrolled/registered.

Please note that due to on-going campus infrastructure and facilities improvements, several campus offices are temporarily relocated. Please contact the HUB or consult the online directory for the most up-to-date information regarding office locations.

Dear Samford Students:

Regardless of the place on your journey—whether you are beginning your time at Samford University or you are near the end—your pursuit of a college degree assures for you a distinctive status in the world. A college education remains a cherished privilege, carrying opportunities and obligations.

This handbook outlines how we relate to each other as members of the Samford University community and sets forth the expectations of how we will conduct ourselves. It is a roadmap for navigating your time as a student at Samford. Following these guidelines and procedures will help ensure your success as a member of this community of learning and faith.

Even as you explore your boundless opportunities here and wherever God may lead you throughout your life, I hope you will always be conscious of our abundant obligations to your fellow travelers. Just as we are blessed now by the purposeful, meaningful experiences that are offered at Samford, we must insure similar opportunities for future generations.

As we sit in the shade of trees that we did not plant, we must plant a few ourselves.

God bless you throughout these steps of your journey.

Andrew Westmoreland
From the SGA President

Dear Samford Family:

As we prepare to embark on another year at Samford, I am excited to welcome all of you back to the place we call home. For those of us returning to Samford for another year, may it be a chapter full of friendships and memories; to all freshmen, transfer, and first year graduate students, I hope your time is as rewarding as mine has been at this great university. For those of you embarking on your journey at Samford for the very first time, know whatever anxiety or homesickness you may currently be feeling will eventually be replaced with a sense of community and support. Samford is blessed with faculty, administration, and students who genuinely care about you, and if you ever need help, you can always find someone to love and encourage you.

As SGA President, I will be here to cheer you on or lend an understanding ear. The undergraduate Student Government Association is here to serve you in any way we can. We represent your concerns to the University administrators, faculty, and staff. In order for us to effectively represent your concerns, we must be made aware of them. We are here to listen to your voices as students, but we cannot effectively listen if you do not use your voice. It is our goal that every student knows they are an included and valued member of the Samford community.

This upcoming year is one to be filled with many changes and growth for Samford. As students, it is our responsibility to maintain patience and understanding as we transition into this new year. With change also comes the possibility for implementation of new ideas. I want to encourage you to verbalize any ideas you may have to make Samford a better place than you found it.

This year will be the 177th year of Samford, and it is true we sit in the shade of trees we did not plant. However, we have the responsibility to plant some new trees for the generations to come. Our time at Samford is limited, so let us make the most of it.

James Hornsby

INTRODUCTION TO SAMFORD UNIVERSITY

Mission of the University
We nurture persons—for God, for learning, forever.
The mission of Samford University is to nurture persons in their development of intellect, creativity, faith and personhood. As a Christian university, the community fosters academic, career and ethical competency while encouraging social and civic responsibility, and service to others.

History
Samford University was chartered in 1841 as Howard College in Marion, Alabama, about 80 miles southwest of Birmingham. It was originally named for the British social reformer, John Howard (1726–1790), who had no connection with the college, but was an international personality of Christian charity. Howard died in Russia, strongly advocating more humane prisons, and his statue was one of the first installed in St. Paul’s Cathedral, London.

The college was moved to Birmingham in 1887 to a site near the present-day airport in the East Lake section. In 1957, it moved to its present campus in the municipality of Homewood. The buildings are uniformly of Georgian-Colonial design. The location was chosen by the firm of Olmstead Brothers, successors to Frederick Law Olmstead, who designed Central Park in New York and many other public spaces.

In 1965, having added the Cumberland School of Law in 1961, the institution reorganized as a university and took the name of a prominent Alabama family as Samford University. Today, the institution includes the School of the Arts, Howard College of Arts and Sciences, Brock School of Business, Beeson School of Divinity, Orlean Bullard Beeson School of Education, Cumberland School of Law, and the College of Health Sciences with Ida V. Moffett School of Nursing, McWhorter School of Pharmacy, the School of Public Health and the School of Health Professions.

Samford is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award the associate’s, bachelor’s, master’s, educational specialist’s and doctor’s degrees. It holds accreditation by numerous special accrediting groups.

Samford University has a close relationship to the Alabama Baptist State Convention.
Alma Mater
Oh, Samford Alma Mater true
Her halls shall ever ring,
With sounding glories of the past
With plans and future dreams.
On knowledge that we seek, O Lord,
We pray thy blessings true.
With pride we pledge our hearts and minds,
To the Samford Red and Blue.

Fight Song
Fight, Fight, Fight,
For Samford Bulldogs,
Go onward to victory.
Oh, we'll wear the red and blue,
Samford, we're all for you...
And we love you, too!
Fight, Fight, Fight,
For Samford Bulldogs,
Go onward to victory.
Oh, we'll give a cheer or two,
Samford, we're all for you...
Fight! Fight! Fight!
ACADEMIC LIFE

A significant part of students’ life at college is spent in the classroom. Their principal objective should be to acquire the knowledge, understanding and skills needed for effective living.

Academic Calendars for 2018–2019
http://www.samford.edu/events/academic-calendar

Academic Integrity
A degree from Samford University is evidence of achievement in scholarship and citizenship. Activities and attitudes should be consistent with high academic standards and Christian commitment and should be in keeping with the philosophy and mission of the university. At Samford, academic integrity is expected of every community member in all endeavors and includes a commitment to honesty, fairness, trustworthiness and respect.

The University Statement on Academic Dishonesty is as follows: students, upon enrollment, enter into a voluntary association with Samford University. They must be willing to observe high standards of intellectual integrity, respect knowledge and practice academic honesty. Those who cheat on an examination or class assignment are not only academically dishonest, but also are deficient in the scholarly maturity necessary for college study. Those who engage in academic dishonesty are subject to severe punishment. The more dependent, the more inevitable becomes ultimate failure, often accompanied by public disgrace. Any act to obtain an unfair academic advantage is considered dishonest.

Academic integrity violations are acts of academic misconduct. The term academic integrity violation includes but is not limited to the following acts:

1. Offering for course credit as one’s own work, in whole or in part, the work of another
2. Plagiarism, that is, incorporating into one’s work offered for course credit passages taken either word for word or in substance from a work of another, unless the student credits the original author and identifies the original author’s work with quotation marks, footnotes or another appropriate written explanation
3. Offering for course credit one’s own work, but work that one has previously offered for course credit in another course, unless one secures permission to do so prior to submission from the instructor in whose course the work is being offered
4. Obtaining an unauthorized copy of a test or assignment in advance of its scheduled administration
5. Taking an examination for another student or knowingly permitting another person to take an examination for oneself
6. Giving, receiving or obtaining information pertaining to an examination during an examination period, unless such action is authorized by the instructor giving the examination
7. Divulging the contents of an essay or objective examination to a student who has not taken the exam
8. Taking, keeping, misplacing or tampering with the property of Samford University, a faculty member or another student, if one knows or should reasonably know that one would, by such conduct, obtain an unfair academic advantage. This section is intended to include, but not be limited to, material in a university library
9. Failing to follow the instructions of a professor in completing an assignment or examination, if one knows or should reasonably know that one would, by such conduct, obtain an unfair academic advantage
10. Witnessing conduct that one knows or should reasonably know is dishonorable and failing to report it
11. Altering or falsifying academic or student record documents such as transcripts, change of grade forms, university excuses and add/drop forms
12. Giving or receiving unauthorized assistance on an examination, assignment, project or other academic assignment
13. Making a false report of academic dishonesty
14. Fabrication, falsification or misrepresentation of data, results, analyses or other studies, presenting the results of research or studies not actually performed or manipulating or altering data to achieve a desired result, including the failure to report or suppression of conflicting or unwanted data

Please go to the Office of the Registrar website to view more information about the procedures and possible sanctions involved with a violation of academic integrity.

Advising
Each student is assigned an adviser in his or her academic department. This assignment is made at the time of admission if an academic major is declared. Students who have not declared a major are assigned to the assistant dean of Arts and Sciences until a major is declared. An academic major must be declared after a student has earned 64 credits.

Bachelor’s Degree Requirements
Total Credits
A minimum of 128 credits must be successfully completed. No more than eight credits in music ensembles, drama participation and physical education activity courses may apply toward the 128 credits required for graduation. No more than two credits in physical education activity courses beyond those required for graduation may be part of the combined eight credits. To receive a first undergraduate degree, students must earn at least 50 percent of their total credits from Samford.

It is the student’s responsibility to see that all graduation requirements are met. Students must meet all requirements for graduation as set forth in the Samford University website (or, if more up to date, any school or department’s official publications) in effect at the time of entrance into the major, assuming there is no interruption in enrollment other than for stated vacation periods. Later changes in the requirements for graduation are applicable to students who proceed through their chosen program in a timely fashion.

The core curriculum courses are:
- UCBP 101 Biblical Perspectives
- UCCP 101 Cultural Perspectives I
- UCCP 102 Cultural Perspectives II
- UCCA 101 Communication Arts I
- UCCA 102 Communication Arts II
- UCFH 120 Concepts of Fitness and Health

In the Howard College of Arts and Sciences, most majors and concentrations require language proficiency at the 202 level.
Students planning to earn Alabama teaching credentials should see their department chairs and consult the School of Education section of the university catalog website for special requirements.

Class Attendance Policy
The classroom is a basic unit of relationships in which learning takes place, and each student contributes to the learning experience of classmates. Therefore, students should recognize that one of the most vital aspects of a residential university experience is attendance and punctuality in the classroom, and the value of this academic experience cannot be measured fully by testing procedures alone. Class attendance policies are established by each school of the university, and specific attendance requirements are indicated in the syllabus of each class.

Some students participate in institutional activities that require them to represent the university in scheduled events on and off campus. For activities of sufficient importance in the overall life of the university, excused absences are granted. A list of activities qualifying for excused absences is maintained by the Provost’s office. Excused absences do not relieve students of responsibility for the academic work in the class missed. However, students may not be penalized for such absences and must be given the opportunity to make up missed work. These students are responsible for informing their professors, in advance, of the class dates that will be missed because of these activities. Practice and/or preparation for these activities would not be a valid reason to miss class. Ultimately, each student bears the responsibility to be aware of and to comply with attendance and punctuality requirements.

Convocation Requirements
The purpose of convocation is to nurture students in faith, learning, and values from a distinctly Christian perspective. Students are made aware of the Christian worldview and are encouraged to develop sympathy with the Christian mission in the world. Students are provided with opportunities to grow toward spiritual maturity. Convocation events help to cultivate the climate within which transcendent and teachable moments can occur in both formal and informal contexts at Samford.

Convocation offers nurture on an individual level, a corporate level, and a confessional level. First, convocation provides activities that challenge persons to grow toward Christian maturity. Second, convocation encourages persons to contribute to the Christian ethos of the university community. Third, convocation is a formal means by which we—the university—can be who we say we are: a community committed to faith, learning and values rooted in a Christian worldview.

Convocation programs allow students to satisfy the convocation requirement for graduation. Incoming freshmen must complete 60 credits to graduate, 30 credits by the end of their sophomore year. By the time a student has completed 64 academic credits, he/she must have 30 or fewer Convocation credits remaining in order to avoid a registration delay. Transfer students have their convocation requirement prorated based on the credits they transfer to Samford from another institution.
Convocation credit may be earned only by participation in approved Convocation events sponsored by Samford University. In some instances, students with a documented disability that would hinder them from attending Convocation events may complete some of their required Convocation credits in an online format. Student who do not complete their Convocation requirements will not be eligible to receive their degree.

For more information about convocation requirements, see here or visit the Office of Spiritual Life website at www.samford.edu/osl.

Course Repeats

- Upon the recommendation of their adviser and the approval of the university registrar, undergraduate students may repeat a course for credit in which they received a “C-” or lower to improve their grade, cumulative GPA and understanding of course content.

  When a course is repeated at Samford in which a grade of “C-” or lower was earned, only the last grade, even if it is lower, counts in the calculation of the cumulative average. The credits count only once. Both courses and both grades remain on the transcript with an indication of which course is counted in the computation of the cumulative GPA. The repeated course must be exactly the same course that was originally taken. Courses repeated at other institutions do not change the Samford cumulative GPA.

  - The deadline for submitting the petition to repeat a course is the last day to add a course in the semester or term the repeated course is being taken. A form for this purpose is available in the Office of the Registrar.

  - A course can be repeated only once. A student may take advantage of this policy for no more than sixteen credits. Repeating a course may influence a student’s financial aid or sports eligibility. Courses repeated after graduation will not change the graduation GPA.

Drop and Add Policy

Class Drops and Adds

Drops, adds and other changes in a student class schedule that do not involve complete withdrawal from school are subject to the following rules.

1. During drop/add, if a schedule change results in a reduction of the student’s total credits (less that full-time), tuition may be adjusted within 30 days.
2. Any reduction in a student’s course load may result in an adjustment in the student’s financial aid.
3. After the last day to drop courses without financial penalty, dropping will not result in a reduction of charges for tuition or fees.
4. There are no refunds of fees unless the course related to the fee is dropped within the drop/add period, or a student withdraws as outlined below.

Charges will be adjusted according to these financial policies and the credits taken by the student. Complete withdrawal from the university is covered under the refund and withdrawal policy.
Global Engagement
Samford offers opportunities to take courses abroad that help develop and expand students’ personal, academic and professional goals. Samford seeks to engage students and faculty to the peoples and cultures of other countries; to provide on-site observation of historical, scientific and cultural phenomena; and to provide opportunities for foreign language study within the cultural context of the target languages. Withdrawal and refund policies for study abroad programs are different from the policies for on-campus programs. Before registration in any study abroad program, please see the Study Abroad Coordinator in the Global Engagement Office to initiate your education abroad for academic credit.

Eligibility
While some programs give preference to majors and minors, all Samford University students are welcome to apply to study abroad if you meet the eligibility requirements. The applicant must have a minimum 2.5 GPA, must not be on academic or disciplinary probation, and (with the exception of Jan Term) must have sophomore standing or above at the time of participation. Students must have met all prerequisites or requirements for the classes in which they enroll. A student must maintain these standards prior to departure and throughout the term of study, abiding by participation and housing rules for each program; failure to do so will result in dismissal from the program and return home at the expense of the student.

The Daniel House in London
As part of its commitment to internationalization, Samford University provides a special opportunity for students and faculty to live and study in one of the most cosmopolitan and culturally rich cities of the world-London. Daniel House, Samford’s London Study Centre, serves as home and classroom to students and faculty throughout the year in a variety of academic programs.

Daniel House is located in the heart of London near Kensington Gardens, the Victoria and Albert Museum, the Museum of Natural History, and the former residences of Winston Churchill, T.S. Eliot, Alfred Hitchcock and John Lennon. Over 130 years old, the Victorian townhouse serves as the setting for a semester abroad program during fall and spring semesters for students and professors-in-residence from the Birmingham campus. In addition to courses taught by the Samford professors in their fields, British professors lecture in offerings that focus on British theatre, history, culture and life. Students may also participate in experiential learning courses to complete their course of study.

During Jan Term, the Daniel House is the base for a large number of Samford faculty and students involved in accelerated, special courses that take advantage of the London setting. These sessions offer a variety of courses focusing on such subjects as art/drama appreciation, English literature, the British health care system, the theology and history of the English Reformation, and London as a world financial center. Summer Term in London allows students to do an in-depth study in one interdisciplinary course offered in a four-week term. Students may elect to add travel time at the end of their studies.

In addition to an interdisciplinary course taught by the professor-in-residence, courses listed under “Semester Abroad Courses” are offered in the fall and spring Semester Abroad Program only. Courses taught in Jan Term and in the Summer Term in London vary each term. Current information is available from the Global Engagement Office. For more information on any of the programs based at Daniel House, please contact the Global Engagement Office in Brooks Hall 211, phone 205-726-4335, or online at http://www.samford.edu/global-engagement/.

Semester Exchange Programs
Hong Kong Baptist University
Samford established a relationship with Hong Kong Baptist University (HKBU) during the 1997–1998 academic year that allows three students to study there each semester. Hong Kong Baptist University is a highly respected university founded by Baptists and serves a multicultural mix of students from around the world. Course work is offered in English in almost all areas of undergraduate study. There should be no difficulty in arranging courses at HKBU that meet major requirements at Samford.

Samford students approved to attend HKBU pay Samford tuition. In addition, students are responsible for the cost of accommodations, meals, round-trip airfare, an administration fee set by HKBU and other personal expenses. Financial aid is available for those who qualify. Contact the Office of Financial Aid for information. Samford students share a two-person room with a Chinese roommate. Sophomore, junior or senior students interested in applying to HKBU should contact the Global Engagement Office in Brooks Hall 221 or call 205-726-4335 early in the semester prior to desired attendance at HKBU.

Pädagogische Hochschule, Weingarten
In 2006, Samford University established an exchange program in Germany with Pädagogische Hochschule Weingarten, or the Weingarten University of Education. Located in the picturesque town of Weingarten, the city forms part of a thriving community in southern Germany near both Lake Constance and the Alps. The majority of students at the University of Education follow a basic undergraduate curriculum in education, though the program is open to Samford students in all different disciplines. The university offers a wide variety of subjects which include humanities, fine arts and physical education. Successful Samford exchange students may study at the university for either one semester (spring semester only) or a full year. Samford students pay Samford tuition, room, board, round-trip transportation, local transportation, medical insurance and health service fees, passport and visa costs, course materials and personal and incidental expenses. Financial aid is available for those who qualify. Prior German language experience is preferred for applicants. Sophomores, juniors and seniors who are interested in applying to Weingarten should contact the Global Engagement Office in Brooks Hall 221 or call 205-726-4335 early in the semester prior to intended attendance.

University Blas Pascal, Argentina
In 2011, Samford established a relationship with The Universidad Blas Pascal (UBP) in Córdoba, Argentina. Blas Pascal (named after the French philosopher and mathematician Blaise Pascal) is the largest private University in Córdoba. UBP offers a special school for foreign students as well as regular University courses. Advanced students will have to prove advanced proficiency in Spanish before being allowed to take regular University courses. UBP offers a wide variety of courses, mainly in Spanish, but also offers some courses in English, primarily in the English department. Internships and service learning opportunities are also possible.

Samford University and The Blas Pascal University have a direct exchange agreement. Up to two Samford students may go to Córdoba each fall semester. Samford students who choose to take courses in Córdoba are responsible for the following: Samford tuition, travel costs to Córdoba, the cost of room and board in Córdoba and other incidental costs. Although a specific level of Spanish language ability is not required, it is strongly suggested that students have at least an intermediate proficiency in Spanish prior to going to Córdoba, with advanced being preferred. Students interested in applying to UBP should contact the Global Engagement Office in Brooks Hall 221 or call 205-726-4335 by April 1. This Semester Exchange Program is only available during the Fall Term (August-December).

Semester Abroad
This is where the “thousands of opportunities” come in. A link to the Study Abroad Student Guide is on the GEO webpage (www.samford.edu/global-engagement). Finding a semester abroad anywhere in the world is easy. The active link takes you to StudyAbroad.com where you can search by country, academic major and term to find a program that is perfect for you. Make sure to stop by the Global Engagement Office in Brooks 221 to meet with the Study Abroad Coordinator to advise you on how to get the process started. It is advisable to start this process a year in advance.

Grade Appeals
An initial grade may be challenged before the last day of classes of the next full semester. This challenge should be presented to the university registrar after conferring with the instructor, the instructor’s department head and the academic dean of the school or college in which the course is taught. An “E” or an “INC” automatically becomes an “F” if not removed by the last day of classes in the next full semester after the grade was given. This grade of “F” may not be challenged.

Grading System
Samford University uses the familiar grading system with some variations. Grades are indicated by letters “A” through “F,” “INC,” “FA,” “W” and “WF.” The university uses a plus and minus variation with the exception of “A+,” “F+” and “F-.” In addition, some courses may be taken for pass/fail credit, and these carry “P” or “F” grades. A statement of the meaning of each symbol is found in the university catalog website. Grades represent faculty appraisal of the quality of work. Term grades are assigned by faculty members and can be changed only for just cause and with administrative approval.

Each grade is assigned a numerical value, and quality points are determined by multiplying the value assigned to the grade earned in the course by the credits. These values are as follows:

Students must earn a quality (or grade) point average of 2.0 (a “C” average) in the Samford cumulative average to graduate. Students are expected to maintain satisfactory progress toward graduation. Specific minimum levels of achievement have been assigned for each classification level of students. See the university catalog website for the current requirements.

Language Study Abroad

Samford’s Department of World Languages and Cultures, through affiliations with institutions abroad, offers opportunities for living and studying in the culture of a target language.

Summer Programs

Samford in Spain Program gives students the choice of studying for five or nine weeks at the Estudio Sampere in Madrid and Salamanca. Students can study in France for five weeks during the summer under the tutelage of French professors at the Université Stendhal, Grenoble. Students of Germany are offered the opportunity to study for five or ten weeks at Sprachinstitut-Trefpunkt in Bamberg, Germany.

Jan Term

Small, intensive Spanish classes are held for three weeks at the Centro Lingüístico Conversa in Santa Ana, Costa Rica.

Summer Internship

In addition, international internships that require the use of another language are arranged on an individual basis in various professional fields, such as business and missions. For further information about these opportunities, contact the Department of World Languages and Cultures at 205-726-2742 or 205-726-2747.

Withdrawal and refund policies for international study-abroad programs are different from policies for on-campus programs, as are policies regarding financial aid. Before registration in any study-abroad program, please see the appropriate office(s) for policies.

Library

Serving the entire campus community, the Samford University Library combines the Harwell Goodwin Davis Library and the Frank W. and Clara C. Hudnall Library. The University Library is home to the Marla Haas Corts Missionary Biography Collection, the Alabama Men’s Hall of Fame and the Hellenic Scholars’ Library. There are more than half a million volumes available through the online catalog. In addition to the book and periodical collections, the library houses a government document collection, a special collection and a multimedia collection. A computer laboratory, computer classroom, individual and group study rooms, multimedia viewing and listening rooms, meeting rooms and a patron lounge area are available for patron use (http://library.samford.edu/about/maps.html). Librarians provide research education to classes and one-to-one assistance at the Ask Us desk and online at http://samford.libanswers.com/.

Physical Activity Course Requirements

Beginning with the 2017-18 academic year, physical activity courses are no longer a graduation requirement for students who enroll at Samford beginning Fall 2017. Students who began their undergraduate studies prior to Fall 2017 must still take UCFH 120 unless they petition their advisor for a waiver.

For students who started prior to Fall 2017, the following requirement is still in effect:

- Most schools require one or two physical activity course(s) in addition to UCFH 120. Students with disabilities impacting physical activity should contact the director of Disability Resources for assistance. If PHED 138 (water safety instructor’s course) is passed, the successful completion of UCFH 120 will fulfill the student’s physical education requirement.

To meet the general education physical activity requirement, a student may register and receive credit only once for the same activity course, with the exception of student-athletes participating in NCAA varsity sports. Student-athletes may count a single varsity sport up to two times, once for the general education requirement and once for general electives that count toward the overall 128 credits in the standard degree, provided that degree allows for general electives. For majors that require no physical education activity courses, students may apply a maximum of two activity credits as general electives toward the total credits required to earn a degree.

Technology Services and Resources

Samford University provides a wealth of computing resources to its community. Highlights of these resources include:

Technology Assistance

Technology assistance is available from the Service Desk, located in Davis Library 012. You can reach the Service Desk 24 hours a day, 7 days a week at 205-726-2662. You may also send a request to support@samford.edu. For hands-on assistance in the Service Desk office, analysts are available Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m.-5 p.m. (pending library hours).

The general-access computing labs are staffed by student laboratory assistants who can help with the use of the resources located in the labs. Computing resources and assistance are free of charge to Samford University students.
Technology Laboratories
General-access computer laboratories are available to every student, except during times when one or more of the labs is scheduled for classes. Several academic departments or schools also have computing labs that support their specialized needs. The general-access laboratories offer a substantial suite of software to assist with word processing, page layout, presentation preparation, and statistical analysis. Each computer in the general-access computing labs is connected to the campus network, which is connected to the Internet. This gives every Samford student access to the World Wide Web and other networked resources. For more information about laboratory resources, hours, and availability, visit http://www.samford.edu/labs/.

Campus Portal Services
All members of the Samford community have access to a variety of computing resources. The campus Portal (http://portal.samford.edu/) via the Web is the entry point from which all members of the campus community can access academic resources, administrative services, community information and e-mail. Some of the administrative resources available to Samford students are grades, class schedules and account information. Upon admission to Samford University, students may go to the Samford home page and log-in to the campus Portal or go directly to the Portal at connect.samford.edu using the user name and password provided by Technology Services. For password assistance for first time users, go to https://pwchange.samford.edu/newuser. For password assistance after a password has been set up, or to change a password, go to pwchange.samford.edu.

Network Access
Samford University offers wireless network access across the campus, including residence halls and outdoor spaces. This service provides students the convenience and flexibility of using portable devices. Nonresident students may access campus computing resources through an Internet service provider, or while on campus. For further information regarding network connections, contact the Service Desk at 205-726-2662, send an email to support@samford.edu, or consult the Technology Services website at www.samford.edu/ts.

Library Resources
The online catalog for the Samford library and several other library-related resources are available through the campus network. Samford is an active participant in the Network of Alabama Academic Libraries and other consortia that enhance the resources available to the Samford community. For more information about library resources, see http://library.samford.edu.

Policies
Please refer to Computing and Information Technology Values and Policies under Student Rights and Responsibilities for specific policies governing computer use.

Microsoft Office for Students
Office 365 Education for Students is an Office 365 plan that is available for free to students who attend academic institutions who have purchased Office for faculty and staff, and is available at office.com/GetOffice365. This plan allows students to install Word, Excel, PowerPoint, Outlook, OneNote, and Access on up to five PCs or Macs, and Office apps on other mobile devices, including Android, iPad, and Windows tablets. The plan also includes one terabyte of OneDrive storage, managed by the university. Students can edit and collaborate using Office Online, as well.

To sign up and get Microsoft Office 365 at no charge, point your web browser to office.com/getoffice365, or contact the Service Desk for assistance at 205-726-2662, or at support@samford.edu.
Learning Management System (Moodle/Canvas)

Samford University is moving from Moodle to Canvas as its Learning Management System (LMS). The Web-based learning management system enhances class communication, organization, and presentation by providing customizable website templates for courses offered. It is designed to provide tools for building online resources for use with face-to-face instruction, hybrid classes, or to support classes offered completely online. The degree to which the system is used in each course varies.

Learning Management System (LMS) course sites enable faculty to:

- Upload and share materials such as a course syllabus, lecture notes, reading assignments, and articles for students to access at their convenience.
- Create forums and chats to encourage discussion and exploration of course topics, projects, and more.
- Develop quizzes and exams.
- Gather and review assignments.
- Record grades, which allows students to stay up-to-date about their performance in each course, and allows faculty to easily manage grades.

You may access the LMS through the University Portal at connect.samford.edu or at http://moodle.samford.edu. For additional information regarding the LMS, contact the Technology Services Service Desk at 205-726-2662 or at support@samford.edu.

Use of Electronic Devices

Student use of cell phones, messaging devices and other technology and/or electronic devices (for example, but not limited to: recording devices, music players, PDAs, computers, etc.) is prohibited in classes unless specifically permitted by the instructor, and at public events (for example, but not limited to: concerts, convocations, theatre productions, lectures, etc.) unless specifically permitted by the event sponsor.

Withdrawal*

A student desiring to withdraw completely from the university at any time must obtain an official withdrawal form from the Office of the Registrar. The date of withdrawal is the date this form is returned to the Office of the Registrar. If a student drops out of the university without permission, the official transcript will show a grade of “FA” in all courses for that semester or term.

- The permanent record of a student who withdraws from all courses within the schedule change period will not show courses attempted for that term.
- The permanent record of a student who withdraws from all courses for a semester or term before the deadline, as stated in the academic calendar, will show courses attempted and will show a grade of “W” (withdraw). A “W” is not calculated in the student’s GPA.
- No student who withdraws from the university for any reason is entitled to a transcript of credits until the student’s financial account has been settled in the bursar’s office.
- A student who withdraws after the deadline as stated in the academic calendar automatically receives a “WF,” indicating an unofficial withdrawal. “WF” carries the same penalty as “F” and is calculated in the student’s GPA.

Please note: Failure to attend class does not constitute withdrawal. Students are responsible for completing the appropriate paperwork and submitting it to the Office of the Registrar.

*For refunds pertaining to withdrawal, see Withdrawal Refund in the Financial Services section. *

Participation Risk
Participation in Campus Recreation activities at Samford is purely voluntary, and individuals participate at their own risk. It is strongly urged that participants obtain sufficient health insurance coverage, whether it is through the university or a private source.

Exhibit Area
Exhibit areas are available for groups to use for promoting events and fundraising. The University Center building coordinator manages reservations for the exhibit area. The requesting group is responsible for maintaining the area in a clean and orderly manner. It is the group’s responsibility to set up all materials and equipment and to remove everything at the end of their reserved time. No more than four people can staff the area at any given time. If an external group wishes to reserve the exhibit area for recruitment purposes, they must seek sponsorship through the Career Development Center. All other external groups must request use of the space through the Department of Venue and Event Management. For-profit sales are not permitted.

The following constitute Samford University’s event and fundraising exhibit areas:

- University Center East Lobby Exhibit Area (at the bottom of the main cafeteria staircase)
  - One table and two chairs are available.
  - The tables and chairs assigned to the exhibit area are not to be removed at any time, and especially not to Ben Brown Plaza for any reason.
- Ben Brown Plaza—located outside of the University Center in front of Dwight Beeson Hall
  - All advertising should adhere to the poster/sign guidelines.
  - Upon approval by the University Center building coordinator, a limited number of posters may be hung in the trees, provided the trees are not damaged. All string, fishing line, etc., must be removed with the posters/signs.
  - The reserving group is responsible for providing tables, chairs, etc. for the function.
  - Tables and chairs can be ordered at no charge through Facility Services. Please contact the University Center building coordinator one week in advance to request tables and chairs.
  - Absolutely no tables and chairs can be taken from anywhere in the University Center for use in these areas.
  - Activities in one area cannot negatively impact that in another. (Example: a band playing on the Quad during a wedding, or noisy activity on Ben Brown Plaza or the Quad during class time or a scheduled exam like the ACT or LSAT).
- Cafeteria
  - One small square table and two chairs may be used from the cafeteria to set up displays.
  - Groups are responsible for setting up and returning the tables to their original location.
o Tape may not be used to attach signs or information to the table.

o Each table worker, regardless of whether or not he/she is eating, must swipe into the cafeteria.

o No more than two groups (one at each entrance) per mealtime may set up in the cafeteria.

Event Registration for Student Organizations

Only registered student organizations in good standing may reserve campus space and facilities, and events must be directly associated with either an official university student organization and/or an academic department. Student events that are not directly tied to an official university student organization or an academic department must submit requests to the Office of Venue & Event Management at events@samford.edu.

Student organizations requesting event space on campus should first create an event through their respective organization page on OrgSync for approval. If necessary, organizations may reach out to the assigned building coordinator for availability of space and proper permissions and to the Office of Student Leadership and Involvement for assistance with OrgSync. All requests will be reviewed by the assigned building coordinator and approved or denied in SPACES. The Office of Event Management assists the Office of Student Leadership and Involvement with the logistical needs of all student organization events on campus.

Samford University’s campus maintains a variety of space venues identified for indoor and outdoor use. For more information regarding the availability of these spaces for general use, please contact the Office of Venue & Event Management at events@samford.edu.

Greek Life

Greek Life at Samford is like no other community. Sororities and fraternities at Samford are purposeful—serving our community and give to righteous causes because that’s what Samford is about. We are faithful—living out our faith through fellowship and everyday grace. And we are real—supporting each other’s journeys through college and life. As members of fraternities and sororities we take lifelong oaths to care for each other and the world around us. We are purposeful. We are faithful. We are real. We are Samford Greeks.

Fraternities and sororities are life-long commitments. At Samford, sororities and fraternities are involved in educational programs, community service and leadership development. Samford students are able to take their spiritual growth to the next level by connecting personal faith to chapter ritual. In addition, fraternal organizations provide a strong bond of brotherhood and sisterhood.

The Interfraternity Council (IFC) is the governing body for the five national fraternities within the North-American Interfraternity Conference (NIC). The NIC is a trade association of over 70 international and national fraternities. The IFC is held to the minimum standards of the NIC. The IFC promotes leadership within member chapters and monitors the activities and events of member chapters. The IFC is composed of two delegates from each fraternity and five executive officers.

The National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC) serves as the governing body for the historically African-American fraternities and sororities. Samford’s NPHC has two sororities and one fraternity actively engaged on campus. There are nine organizations that make up the national body of NPHC, commonly known as the Divine Nine. NPHC serves to unite the active Samford chapters for one collective voice to speak on issues, coordinate joint programming and create a sense of community. The council is comprised of four officers representing the community and delegates from each active chapter.
The College Panhellenic (CPH) is the governing body of the six Samford sororities within the National Panhellenic Conference (NPC). NPC makes up 26 national fraternal women's organizations providing development for all sorority women. CPH is composed of two members from each sorority serving as delegates and six executive officers. CPH not only monitors the sorority membership recruitment process, but also provides a variety of educational, social and service opportunities for sorority members, as well as the campus and Greek community at large. Sorority life can provide women with a lifetime of sisterhood, development, and enrichment.

Greek organizations are held accountable for upholding the executive guidelines, organizational policies, as well as university values. Greek organizations that operate under the Interfraternity Council (IFC), National Pan-Hellenic Council (NPHC) and Panhellenic Council (CPH) guidelines, may be subject to disciplinary sanctions applied by those entities in addition to university sanctions.

To learn more about joining a fraternity or sorority please visit our website, www.samford.edu/greeklife.

Faith development is an important part of the Christian mission of Samford University. As a student, you will have the opportunity to develop a mature faith of your own, building on the beliefs you bring here.
The Office of Spiritual Life exists to encourage and equip persons to deepen spiritual maturity, sharpen theological integrity, clarify vocational identity and embrace missional responsibility. Students will have many opportunities to engage in vibrant worship, experience authentic community and embrace Christian mission. Some of the opportunities are as follows:

Campus Worship: Gather together with the campus community in Reid Chapel every Tuesday and Thursday at 10 a.m. for a time of worship, prayer, encouragement and challenge.

Samford Home Groups: Join one of these weekly meetings hosted in the home of a Samford faculty or staff member and led by a fellow student. Group members will share a meal together, study Scripture, offer prayers and build relationships for the sake of knowing Christ more clearly and walking with Him more closely.

Cadres: These small groups are led by faculty, staff and students for the purpose of theological discussion and spiritual formation.

Retreats: Several retreats will be offered throughout the year intended to create space in the lives of students for the purpose of reflection, rest, and resolve in the serious call to a life of discipleship.

Missions: Take advantage of the resources and opportunities to be a part of God’s work in the world. Participating in missions expands your worldview, puts your faith into practice, and grows your understanding of yourself and of God.

Leadership Opportunities: Students desiring to work with the Office of Spiritual Life on campus can apply to serve as a Samford home group facilitator, spiritual life assistant, campus worship band member, worship planning team participant, cadre leader or spiritual life intern.

Student Government Association
The Student Government Association (SGA) represents and promotes student interest in the decision-making processes of Samford University by cultivating and maintaining leadership among students. The SGA also develops, coordinates and executes a variety of activities and services for the benefit of the students.

The Student Government Association is organized into five branches that provide a wide range of opportunities for student involvement. Each branch is presided over by a member of the student executive board. Student executive board positions include President, Vice President for Senate, Vice President for events, Vice President for development, chief of staff, chief justice, press secretary, treasurer and chaplain. Opportunities for involvement include senate, student activities council, Freshman Forum, class officers, Presidential Advisory Council, Student Judiciary Council and Multicultural Affairs Committee.

All undergraduate students at Samford are members of the SGA. Members may vote in SGA-sponsored elections and participate in SGA-sponsored activities. All laws and resolutions of the undergraduate Student Government Association are codified and maintained by the Senate Code of Laws Committee. All legislative measures are published according to general topics by title and chapter in the Code of Laws and outlined in the Constitution.

For specific information about programs, services and activities, please visit the SGA website at samford.edu/SGA or e-mail SGA@samford.edu.
Student Leadership Criteria
Samford University encourages students to immerse themselves in campus life, including leadership in one of the many registered student organizations or university-sponsored student leadership opportunities. In order to preserve the integrity of student academic performance, the following criteria have been established for individuals to hold leadership positions and to serve in executive level leadership roles in student groups and organizations.

Students seeking to hold an executive leadership role in a student organization or university-sponsored organization must adhere to the following:

- Must be a full-time student in good standing with the university, free of any disciplinary or academic action at the time a leadership role is sought
- Must possess a grade point average no less than 2.0; individual groups and organizations may require a higher GPA
- Be responsible for upholding Samford's Code of Values

Stated standards in the handbook are minimum standards that may be supplemented or enhanced by an organization or group’s requirements.

Students entrusted with leadership positions on campus should be familiar with the Samford Code of Values and are expected to demonstrate behavior consistent with the Code of Values. Any student leader exhibiting behavior inconsistent with the Code of Values may be subject to removal from their leadership position and adjustment of any Samford financial assistance accompanying the position. These leadership roles include but are not limited to officers in campus organizations, student government, resident assistants, Connections leaders, orientation leaders, ambassadors, Student Recruitment Team, student-athletes, University Fellows, Beeson and Presidential scholars.

Student Organizations
Co-curricular involvement is an important aspect of a total education. Samford University students are encouraged to select from more than 100 faith-based, honorary, professional, educational, athletic, service and social student organizations. A list of officially recognized student organizations is updated yearly in the Student Organization Guidebook. Specific policies related to organization recognition and support can be found in the Student Organization Manual.

Please visit the Office of Student Leadership and Involvement online at www.samford.edu/lead or e-mail lead@samford.edu if you have any questions or need assistance locating an organization that is right for you.

Tailgating

Basic Tailgating Policies

All tailgates must register through https://www.samford.edu/departments/event-planning/tailgate-registration-form. Locations are reserved on a first come, first serve basis.

- Tailgating groups are required to bring their own equipment for their area, including tents, tables, chairs, and grills, etc. Tents cannot be staked into the ground.

- If you need to drop off large/heavy items, the designated vehicle entrance to the Quad (Sidewalk between Brooks and Burns Hall) will open 6 hours before kickoff and will close 3 hours prior to kickoff for weekend games only. Vehicle access is not allowed for games that fall Monday – Friday, no exceptions. No vehicles are allowed to drive on the Quad during business hours. See https://www.samford.edu/departments/event-planning/tailgate for vehicle quad access times for each season. For reasons of personal safety and high volume of pedestrians, vehicles are not allowed to re-enter the quad after the game begins. If you would like to breakdown during the game, all items must be walked off the quad. All vehicles to participate in tailgate breakdown will be allowed to re-enter the Quad at the end of the game and for up to one hour, after the game is over. After one-hour passes, no cars will be allowed on the quad, so all remaining tailgate items must be walked off the quad. It is advised to walk your items back to your car to avoid long wait times.

- If you need power for your tent, you will need to bring a quiet generator or rent one. Please contact Events Management for availability of power source from Samford. A limited number of electricity access points are available on a first come first serve basis.

- Grills must be placed in designated grilling areas only. Grilling is not allowed in parking decks. All grills must be placed away from tents and trees, and cannot be used under a covered surface. Generators, grills, and flammable material such as propane and gasoline are not allowed within 20 feet of campus buildings or in other designated no-grill areas. All fires must be contained within grills or other containers designed specifically for that purpose. Grills must be elevated and use self-lighting charcoal or propane. Extinguish charcoal fires thoroughly with water before leaving unattended. Place charcoal in designated containers or remove it from campus for disposal. DO NOT DUMP charcoal on the ground or in dumpsters. Oils of any kind cannot be disposed of in a storm drain or sanitary sewer. Please repackage and remove from site. At least 1 five-pound all-purpose fire extinguisher (ABC) must be provided if a grill is in use.
• Samford will not be held responsible for any stolen or misplaced items left on the quad.
• Tailgating at Samford is a family friendly environment. Individuals, groups and organizations participating in a tailgate are responsible for their own conduct and are expected to respect the rights of others and the Samford community. All guests are expected to honor Samford’s Code of Values while on campus. Failure to do so will result in the permanent loss of all tailgating privileges.
• Live performances must be approved in advance and will be limited based on overall crowd expectation.
• Smoking and alcohol are not allowed. Failure to meet these expectations can lead to guests being removed from campus.
• All tailgating groups are responsible for making sure their assigned tailgating area is clean prior to departing the quad.

For more information on tailgating at Samford, contact the Department of Event Management at 205-726-2355 or e-mail events@samford.edu.

Dining Services and Meal Plan Requirements
Samford University provides a variety of food services for students, faculty and staff. More than just a place to eat, these facilities are a common meeting ground and center of campus social activities for resident students, commuting students, faculty and staff. Samford Dining provides the management of all dining services on campus. All facilities are located in University Center.

The dining hall (cafeteria) provides 19 meals per week. Only breakfast on Saturdays and Sundays is not served. Unlimited selection from the standard cafeteria line to specialties such as a pizza bar, deli, short-order line, salad bar, ethnic option and regular specials are available in the dining hall. Guests may also have unlimited seconds. Diners must observe the following policies:

- Students must bring their Samford ID/meal card each meal.
• Students may use only one scan per meal on their basic plan. (See information on declining balance below.)
• Food may not be taken out of the dining hall.
• Only the student identified on the card may use the ID. Use by another student may result in the card being voided. Lost cards should be reported immediately to the Office of Public Safety and Emergency Management, located in the University Center, at 205-726-2020. The card will be voided and replaced.
• Changes to the meal plan must be executed before the second week of classes commence.

The food court, featuring national franchise fast-food vendors is located on the ground floor of the University Center. These facilities are open for more extended hours than the dining hall and are an excellent place for snacks or meals.

Students, staff and faculty may purchase an advance declining balance credit (Bulldog Bucks) that is entered on their ID cards and which may be used in the dining hall or the food court. Additional deposits may be made to this account when the balance is used. This provides a convenient and more rapid method than paying cash at each meal. However, meals in the dining hall or food court may be purchased on a cash basis also. Bulldog Bucks should be purchased directly from http://bulldogbucks.samford.edu or the bookstore in the University Center.

Required Meal Plans
Resident students are required to purchase a regular meal plan. Three plans are available: Unlimited Bulldog Carte Blanche, 12 meals per week or seven meals per week. All freshmen are required to have the Unlimited Bulldog Carte Blanche regardless of hours transferred in or completed. Students who have at least 24 credit hours but less than 64 credit hours may choose the Unlimited Bulldog Carte Blanche or 12-meal plan. Those who are full junior status and have completed at least 64 credit hours may choose any of the three plans. Dining Dollars in the amount of $130 is included in each meal plan.

Commuters and resident students who use the Dining Dollars in their basic meal plan may add additional funds (Bulldog Bucks) to their declining balance in any amount through http://bulldogbucks.samford.edu or the University Center Bookstore. These additional funds are available until used and are not lost at the end of each term.

Emergency Notification
Rave Alert Wireless Short Message Service
All Samford students and employees are automatically registered for the free Rave Alert system to receive emergency notices via their Samford e-mail addresses. Students and employees also may opt to receive text messages to their mobile phones by registering a mobile phone number online. (Mobile service plans may charge for the delivery of text messages.) Follow the steps below to register a mobile phone number:

1. Go to www.getrave.com/login/Samford and log in with your Samford-issued user name and password (the same user name and password for e-mail and other Samford services).
2. New users will be prompted to enter a mobile phone number. Return users should click the “Edit” link in the box for a mobile number.
3. Enter a mobile phone number in the space provided and proceed to the confirmation steps.
4. The Rave Alert system will send a test message to your mobile phone. The message will contain a code for you to enter on the website to confirm receipt of the message and complete the registration process.
The Rave Alert system allows users to add up to three e-mail addresses and three telephone numbers to receive notices. This allows one to add a parent, spouse or other party interested in receiving university emergency notices.

Use of the Rave Alert system is restricted to emergencies. Information supplied to the Rave Alert system will not be used to send general university announcements or other nonemergency communications.

If an emergency situation exists, the carillon (bell tower) atop Davis Library may ring a single bell for five minutes. Check for e-mail or text messages that contain additional information.

Severe Weather
The most likely emergencies are weather related. Public Safety and Emergency Management personnel monitor the National Weather Service for warnings specific to the campus and surrounding area. Emergency notification systems are activated only when there is a direct threat to the Samford campus. Jefferson County emergency sirens are sounded when there is a tornado warning for any part of the county and may be audible even though Samford has not activated its emergency notification system. However, take cover until you have assurance the warning does not include the Samford campus.

Closing of the University
Inclement weather or other events beyond the control of the university that might cause risk or danger to students, faculty, and staff may occasionally result in changes to normal university operations, including cancellation of classes or events; the calendar schedule may be adjusted. Recorded announcements of weather-related or other closings of the university can be heard by calling the SAM-INFO message system at 205-726-4636. In addition, the Office of Communication notifies local radio and television stations of campus closings. In case of emergency, the RAVE alert system is activated.

Public Safety and Emergency Management

General Policy
Samford University maintains an Office of Public Safety and Emergency Management (PSEM) as a proprietary function of the university with jurisdiction to enforce the rules and regulations of the university on university property, as well as the laws of the U.S. government and the state of Alabama. The PSEM office is staffed 24 hours a day to provide immediate availability for emergency response, security and traffic patrols, monitoring people on campus and other services relevant to the campus community. The PSEM office is located Seibert Hall room 301. Members of the department maintain a close working relationship with local, state and federal law enforcement authorities and other emergency service agencies on matters related to campus safety and security.

Reporting
Any incidents involving suspected criminal activity or violations of university rules and regulations related to the safety and security of people or property should be reported to the Office of Public Safety and Emergency Management. The department maintains records of incidents that have occurred on campus, and such statistical data is available in public safety's annual report.

Responsibility
The ultimate responsibility for personal safety rests with each individual. Individuals should be aware of their surroundings and potential risks to personal safety, exercise caution and take reasonable actions to protect themselves, walk with friends in lighted areas at night, keep residence halls secure, lock room doors, do not prop open outer doors, know building evacuation procedures, know how to contact proper authorities and how to drive defensively, and know how to report suspicious activities to the Office of Public Safety and Emergency Management.

Safety Escort
A safety escort service is available for all students during the day or night. Escorts are provided to any destination on campus. The escort service is provided for safety-related reasons only. Because there is safety in numbers, groups of three or more students are encouraged to walk to their destination. The escort is given by either foot or vehicular patrol. An escort may be requested by calling 205-726-2020 or stopping by the PSEM office located in Seibert Hall room 301.

Campus Access
Access to the campus is subject to control at all times. During regular business hours, vehicles may access the campus through the main entrance or the southwest gate. Except for special events, the front gate is closed at 10 p.m., and controlled access is established at the southwest entrance from 10 p.m. until 6 a.m. People entering or departing the campus are subject to security checks for valid identification, campus destination or other relevant information.

Building Closure
Academic and administrative buildings are open during regular business hours. After closing hours, buildings are patrolled regularly to maintain security of property in the buildings, to prevent unauthorized entry and to assure proper operation of facility equipment. After-hours access to the buildings must be authorized by appropriate university officials. Routine patrols and periodic building inspections are performed to assure the security of facilities. When deficiencies are discovered, the appropriate department is notified as soon as possible.

The necessary physical examination must be within 12 months of class start date to Admissions and will only be accepted on the Health Form provided. The face of the check must have the student’s name, local address, telephone number, and student identification number. Students must present a valid photo ID. A student who presents a check to Samford University that is not honored by the bank will be charged a returned check fee of $30. In accordance with university policy, students should attend classes only if they are officially registered for the course(s) and all fees are paid.

Tuition and Fees Payment Guidelines
E-bill
Notification that a new e-bill has been generated is sent to students and authorized users via the Samford University e-mail system on or about the 10th of each month. Samford email; remains the official means of communication with students; paper statements are not provided. Students are advised to check their e-mail regularly. Students and authorized users may access the financial portal at any time at www.samford.edu/go/ebill.

Undergraduate students registering during the early registration period will receive an e-bill approximately 15 days prior to the payment due date. The e-bill reflects activity up to the date the e-bill was generated. Any activity transpiring after the e-bill generation date may be viewed on the Current Activity section of the financial portal. The Current Activity page provides the current account balance that is due including any unbilled charges and payments. To review the detail by term, select the appropriate term from the drop-down box. Payment for term e-bills will be due in accordance with the stated official financial policy found at www.samford.edu/departments/financial-services. Students who register/make schedule changes/add room and board, etc. after the e-bill generation date must consult the financial portal to view their account summary and arrange payment for all charges by the due date for the term regardless of whether or not the charge(s) have been billed.

Registration Cancellation
Students not paying their bill by the due date are subject to having their registration cancelled until payment is received. A student may be reinstated by paying the balance in full, plus a reinstatement fee. Following this payment, a clearance slip from the Bursar’s Office will be provided to the Office of the Registrar as required to re-establish the student’s class schedule. Consult the Student Financial Services website for the last day to be reinstated for each term.
Students making changes to their schedule after the e-bill has been produced (usually at the beginning of a term or during drop/add) are required to make payment in full by the e-bill due date for the term, including additional charges resulting from the changes even though they may not have received an e-bill for these additional charges. Failure to make full payment will result in registration cancellation the next business day after the end of the drop/add period, as defined by the undergraduate academic calendar.

E-bill generation, payment, late fee assessment and registration cancellation dates for each semester/monthly e-bill are noted on the payment schedule at http://samford.edu/departments/financial-services/. You may make a payment by logging in to the financial portal 24/7 at www.samford.edu/go/ebill. International students may make payments from foreign bank accounts by using our partner, flywire: https://www.flywire.com/pay/samford.

Holds

Students may not register for the next semester, receive transcripts, or receive a diploma until past due amounts are cleared. Other departments, such as University Health Services, may also have holds in place to restrict next semester registration, transcript requests, or to receive a diploma. Students must contact that department to resolve the hold placement. The bursar’s office does not have permission to release the holds placed by another department. Holds may be viewed in the financial portal.

Collections

Past due accounts assigned to a collection agency may be reported to the credit bureaus and students are responsible for attorney fees, collection fees, collection costs, and interest. The university may charge interest on all amounts past due.

Financial Aid

The mission of the Office of Financial Aid at Samford University is to assist students and their families in financing the costs associated with obtaining a Samford education. The Office of Financial Aid is located on the first floor of Samford Hall. Office hours are 8 a.m.–4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

To ensure consideration for all potential sources of funds, students are strongly encouraged to submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The FAFSA may be filed annually after October 1 of each year at www.fafsa.ed.gov.

The priority date for completing the application process is February 15 preceding the beginning of the applicable academic year. This means that the FAFSA should be received by the federal processor on or before February 15. Students in this priority group will be the first for whom Samford packages and awards financial assistance. Applications for financial assistance received after the priority date will be processed on a rolling basis.

Samford provides considerable financial resources to students who have the capacity to contribute to the life and values of the campus community and benefit from educational experiences offered by the university. If a student receiving institutional aid (e.g., academic, leadership, athletic, ministerial) is responsible for a values violation, and the sanction is loss of privilege, probation, residence hall suspension, university suspension or expulsion, the person and/or department head responsible for recommending the aid award to the student will be notified and the award may be cancelled for a period of time or indefinitely.

Many scholarships are renewable for four years (or eight semesters) if qualifications are maintained and personal conduct reflects Samford’s Code of Values. Information about scholarship requirements can be reviewed by visiting www.samford.edu/admission/scholarships and reading the section entitled “Scholarship Guidelines”.

Students seeking financial aid should file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) on line at www.fafsa.ed.gov. Our priority date is February 15 for the upcoming academic year.

Students who filed the FAFSA on or before that date will comprise the first group for which we package and award financial aid for the upcoming academic year. FAFSAs filed after February 15 will be processed in the order they are received. Students may obtain information regarding financial aid online at www.samford.edu/departments/financial-services/or by telephone at 205. 726.2905. Students are encouraged to use these resources for questions regarding financial aid at Samford University.

Other Services, Requirements and Costs
Activity Fees
Tennis, swimming, racquetball and many other recreational activities are available without charge. The field house has an indoor jogging track. Outdoor activities, such as white-water rafting, rappelling, etc., are sponsored by the Student Government Association. Fees are charged to cover the actual cost of these activities.

Medical Insurance for Students
Students are required to carry health insurance while enrolled at Samford.

Students in the College of Health Sciences are required to provide proof of current personal health insurance coverage. Likewise, international students with F or J visas are required to provide proof of health insurance. Each year, these students are automatically enrolled in the university-sponsored student health insurance plan. There is a charge for this coverage. To have the charge removed from his/her Samford account, a student must provide proof of insurance by completing the insurance waiver at www.studentcenter.uhcsr.com/Samford. Without the waiver, the charge will remain on the student account and the student will be covered with health insurance from August 23, 2018 to August 22, 2019.

Membership Fees
Some student organizations have an annual membership fee. Greek organizations have a per semester Greek Life fee of $75.00, monthly dues, and an initiation fee. The Greek Life fee is assessed by the university and will be charged to the student account. All other Greek organization fees are charged directly by the organizations and will not be posted on the student account.

Personal Property Insurance
Students have a large investment in personal property, such as textbooks, computers, etc... Each year, college students lose millions of dollars’ worth of personal property through theft, vandalism, water or fire. Samford University is not liable for a student’s personal property should a loss occur on campus.

All students, especially those who live in residence halls, should insure their personal property either through their parent’s homeowners’ insurance or through a private insurance policy. The university has established an insurance program through National Student Services, Inc. This insurer provides personal property insurance for students at more than 1,000 colleges and universities. For more information on student personal property insurance see www.nssi.com or pick up a brochure at the Residence Life Office, University Center 106.

Refunds
Refunds are made available within seven to ten business days after financial aid has been credited (disbursed) to your student account. Refunds will not be available before that time. Disbursement of aid on your account is regulated based on the first day of class as indicated on the academic calendar for your classification and may occur no earlier than ten days prior to the start of the term. Refund availability dates posted at www.samford.edu/departments/financial-services are the earliest dates the refunds will be available. Satisfactory completion/submission of all required information by the student is required for aid disbursement to occur ten days prior to the start of the term. Refund schedules posted online are based on aid that has paid ten days prior to the start of the term. For refunds based on aid paying later, the refund date will be later than what is posted online. The dates are subject to change and may be adjusted to comply with federal regulations governing refunds to students.

Direct deposit of refunds is available by logging on to the financial portal (www.samford.edu/go/ebill) and signing up. To sign up, click on the “eRefunds” link and follow the prompts.

The Samford Card and Bulldog Bucks
All students are required to have an official Samford University photo ID (Samford Card), made and recorded by the Department of Public Safety and Emergency Management. These IDs offer students a convenient, safe and easy way to make purchases and utilize campus services. It is used as an identification card, meal card, library card and for access to certain facilities. With activation of Bulldog Bucks, the Samford Card can be used to make purchases on campus, as well as at local retailers and restaurants. Bulldog Bucks work similarly to a debit card in that deposited funds are debited each time purchases are made.

GET™ will allow students, parents and employees to deposit money into Bulldog Bucks. Using the link http://bulldogbucks.samford.edu, cardholders can budget their account by tracking spending and report a lost or stolen card at any time.

Student Employment Opportunities
Campus work opportunities for students are available through two programs: The Federal Work Study Program (FWS) and the Institutional Student Employment Program (ISEP). Employment is administered through the payroll office. Student Employees are not eligible for employee benefit plans except in those instances when required by federal or state law.

FWS is a need-based work program. Students who demonstrate need and are awarded FWS funds as part of their financial aid award package are eligible to be employed through FWS. ISEP is not a need-based program and students may seek employment through ISEP regardless of whether or not they have completed the application process for financial aid. Under both programs, FWS and ISEP, students are paid biweekly for hours actually worked.

A list of available FWS and ISEP positions can be found on the Student Employment website.

Federal government regulations require that individuals must provide certain original forms of identification before beginning work. Once a student has found a job, instructions for completing the I-9 and other required forms can be found on the Student Employment website.

Withdrawal Refund Policy for All Students

Student Withdrawal

The university is required to contract for a substantial amount of goods and services in advance. Most of these expenses are fixed and are not subject to change on short notice. Under certain circumstances, refunds are available to students who officially withdraw from the university. A student desiring to withdraw from the university must obtain an official withdrawal form from the Office of the Registrar. The form must be submitted to the Office of the Registrar when it is completed. This policy applies to all terms. If a withdrawal results in a tuition reduction and the student has received financial aid, some of the aid could be required to be returned by the university to the aid provider. In such cases, the student will be required to reimburse the university. For a complete withdrawal refund schedule, go to www.samford.edu/departments/financial-services and look in the “Financial Policies” drawer. Find the link under the “Refund Date Policy” heading for a pdf with all applicable dates.

Samford cheerleaders represent Samford and its athletics program through performances at athletics events, as well as campus and community events. Tryouts are held each spring. Mascot
Samford University’s mascot, Sam, appears at athletics events, as well as student and community activities to build enthusiasm and recognition for Samford. Sam is a visual representation of the spirit and pride of Samford, and one of its most beloved inhabitants. Tryouts are held in the spring. Exact dates and times for tryouts may be found at www.samfordsports.com or by calling the athletics office.
RESIDENCE LIFE

The Department of Residence Life serves the Samford community by providing high-quality and safe residential facilities while fostering the resident’s educational, personal, social and spiritual development within a Christian environment. Residence Life is a unit of the university’s Student Affairs and Enrollment Management Division. Fulfilling the mission is reached through provision, maintenance and operation of comfortable, attractive and safe residence facilities; through provision of a trained, competent professional staff committed to the Christian faith, and through provision of organized programs and activities, and personal services for residents. The department also seeks to provide opportunities that continuously nurture a resident’s total personality and self-esteem, resulting in achievement of each individual’s highest potential.

The Office of Residence Life maintains an office in each of the four areas of campus housing. Each office is responsible for meeting the ongoing, everyday needs of residents in their area. Residence life coordinators, professional members of the department staff who live in each area, maintain offices in these locations. They are responsible for all programs and activities, procurement of services of other departments when required, approval and coordination of all moves within and to or from their area after a term has begun, and for assisting with personal concerns and roommate conflicts. Area offices are located in Evergreen Hall for Beeson Woods, in Vail Hall for Central Campus, in Mountainview Hall for West Campus, and in Building 300 for West Village.

The main offices of residence life are in University Center 102 and 106. These offices are responsible for coordination of all services of the department, including the initial assignment of housing for each academic year. The office also administers the meal plans required by university policy for all resident students.

The department staff consists of the following people:

The Assistant Vice President for Campus and Residential Life is the department head and is a member of the staff of the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management.

The assistant director of Residence Life reports to the Assistant Vice President for Campus and Residential Life, and is responsible for programming, staff selection and department assessment.

The assistant director of Housing and Business Operations reports to the Assistant Vice President for Campus and Residential Life and is responsible for administering all housing assignments and meal plans for resident students.

The facilities and safety coordinator reports to the Assistant Vice President for Campus and Residential Life and is responsible for residence life maintenance and safety.

Residence life coordinators (RLCs) are professional, live-in staff responsible for the total operation of a particular area of campus housing. RLCs are full-time professional staff members working in the division of Student Affairs and Enrollment Management.

Residence managers are graduate students who live in the residence halls or suites and are responsible for coordinating and overseeing the day-to-day functions associated with a particular residential area.
Senior resident assistants (SRAs) are undergraduate, senior-class students who live on a particular hall or housing area, responsible for the day-to-day functions of the RAs.

Resident assistants (RAs) are the first point of contact for resident students. These are undergraduate students who live on the halls in close proximity to residents.

Academic Year-Lease Agreement

When a student is assigned a room, the housing contract represents a lease for the academic year. The university commits to provide a room, and the student commits to reside on campus through the following spring term unless the student graduates, withdraws from the university or gets married. Students may not move off campus for any other reasons between fall and spring terms. A substantial penalty is imposed if residents break their lease agreement—$1,000.

The lease is not for a specific room, but a commitment to live on campus. Consistent with current residence life policy and procedure, students may change rooms at designated times and with prior approval of a residence life coordinator. However, unauthorized moves will result in a substantial penalty. Residents may be required to change rooms if it is determined by the Office of Residence Life to be necessary and in the best interest of the student or the university.

The Campus Community

Door-to-door personal solicitation will not be allowed under any circumstances. However, if an on-campus individual, group or organization wishes to present information regarding a product or service that is deemed to be a service or of educational benefit to students, the Assistant Vice President of Campus and Residential Life should be contacted concerning the possibility of marketing/selling that product, service or program within the residence halls.

On-campus individuals, groups or organizations wishing to distribute materials or post advertisements in residence halls must obtain approval from the residence manager for each individual residence hall.

Community Standards Council

The mission of the Community Standards Council (CSC) is to help foster and maintain a peaceful and purposeful community within the residence halls. This goal includes educating students in responsibilities and opportunities for community living. The CSC monitors rule infractions stipulated by the Residence Life Housing Contract and the Student Handbook website. A values violation is defined by the Code of Values outlined in the Samford University Student Handbook website. Values violations will be sent to the values advocate, and a residence life violation will be sent to the CSC for review. A values violation may be referred to the CSC at the request of the values advocate.

The CSC consists of seven students (three of whom are resident assistants) selected by a committee. One residence life professional staff member serves as the CSC adviser who is a nonvoting member; but if the CSC is unable to hear a case, then the CSC adviser will hear the incident.

Sanctions Associated with the Community Standards Council

- Reprimand: An oral or written warning may be issued by itself or as part of an overall decision. It specifies that more severe disciplinary action will occur should the student be involved in further disciplinary situations.
- Counseling session: The student may be required to meet for a minimum number of hours with the university counselor, the Assistant Vice President for Residential and University Services, the Assistant Director of Residence Life, a residence life coordinator and/or a residence manager.
- Community service: A student may be required to complete a specified number of hours of community service instead of other sanctions. The type of community service must be approved by the community standards adviser.
- Monetary fine: A monetary fine may be assessed to a student by the Community Standards Council. Monetary fines, in some cases, can be replaced by a specified number of hours of community service.
- Restitution: Compensation for damage caused to university or personal property. This is not a fine, but rather a repayment for property destroyed or damaged.
- Restriction of visitation privileges: This can be levied against an individual, a room or a suite. The details of the restriction should be specified, as well as how long it is in effect.
- Reassignment to another residence hall: If, in the opinion of the Community Standards Council, a student might benefit from living in another residence hall, the student can be moved. However, staff members in the Office of Residence Life shall select the residence hall to which the student may be reassigned.
- Referral to the Values Advocate: This sanction is usually recommended for repeat offenders or someone who displays behavior that might affect the safety of campus residents. Offenders who accumulate seven or more points on the CSC point system are automatically referred to the values advocate.

Community Standards Council Point System

Specific behaviors will be assessed points ranging from one to seven, with seven being the highest number of points assessed for one behavior. Upon accumulating seven or more points, the student will be required to appear before the values advocate. The second incident for the same violation can automatically constitute a hearing with the values advocate.

Facility Services

Facility Services is responsible for the maintenance and custodial care of all facilities on campus, including all public areas of every residence hall on campus. Resident students are responsible for the cleaning and care of their own rooms, private and semiprivate bathrooms, and sitting areas in suites or apartment units. When students have a maintenance or repair need, they may request help from facility services by contacting their resident assistant or their area office, or by calling facility services directly in case of a critical or emergency need at 205-726-2711.

Residents are responsible for their personal belongings, and neither the university nor the facility services contractor assumes responsibility for personal belongings lost or damaged due to a maintenance issue.

Living on Campus

Residence halls are more than just a place to live. They are classrooms for learning human relations skills and social centers for the residents in each facility. Students living on campus become residents of a small neighborhood within each facility and members of the larger community of all those who live on campus. As in every such community, policies and procedures are necessary to protect the rights of individuals and the welfare of the community at large. In keeping with the Christian purpose of the university, they also reflect the values and standards of conduct expected of residents. Residence life policies and procedures are found in the Residence Hall Housing Contract, university catalog website, student handbook website, residence life website and other material distributed periodically.

At all times, residents are expected to use good judgment and show respect for the rights and needs of others in the care and use of student housing and facilities. The purpose and intent of policies should be observed rather than just the letter of the law.

Residents should consider purchasing personal liability insurance to cover their belongings in residence halls. The university does not assume any responsibility for personal items brought into residence halls. Items damaged in the buildings due to, but not limited to the following: maintenance, inclement weather, theft, water or fire are not covered by university insurance.

Operating Dates

Residence halls are open and operated when school is in session. They are not available as student housing on a year-round basis and are closed over designated holiday periods. Students may leave personal belongings in their rooms, but the rooms may not be occupied over holiday breaks. Samford is not responsible for any loss or damage to personal property left in rooms. Students may not have access to their rooms in advance of the published opening dates and must vacate their rooms by published closing dates. All personal belongings must be removed from the student’s room at the end of the spring term, or when the student officially vacates the room. The university does not have facilities to provide storage for students’ personal property between terms or over the summer.

Personal Property Insurance
Students have a large investment in personal property, such as textbooks, computers, tablets, etc... Each year, college students lose millions of dollars’ worth of personal property through theft, vandalism, water or fire. Samford University is not liable for a student’s personal property should a loss occur on campus.

All students, especially those who live in residence halls, should insure their personal property either through their parents’ homeowner’s insurance or through a private insurance policy. The university has established an insurance program through National Student Services, Inc. This insurer provides personal property insurance for students at more than 1,000 colleges and universities. For more information on student personal property insurance, see www.nssi.com or pick up a brochure in the residence life office, University Center 106.

Private Room Fee and Consolidation
Based on availability and with the approval of the Office of Residence Life, a student may request and occupy a double room as a single by payment of 150 percent of the rate for that room. The student will be guaranteed single occupancy only by the payment of this private room fee. Once approved, the private room fee will apply to every term remaining in the current academic year. It may be deleted only if a roommate is actually assigned.

Residents who do not have a roommate at the start of the fall or spring semester and who have not requested a private room will be required to consolidate with another resident who also does not have a roommate. The Office of Residence Life will make available lists of other students in rooms without a roommate to assist in this process. In the fourth week of classes, the private room fee will be charged to all residents remaining in a double room as a single.

Should a resident lose his/her roommate after the fourth week of classes, he/she will be allowed to remain in the room as a single for the remainder of that term only without paying the private room fee. The vacant space remains available to the Office of Residence Life for assignment to any student needing housing at any time, and the resident may not reject any roommate assigned. The resident may be required to move to... another room where a single vacancy exists at any time the Office of Residence Life has need for the current room as a double vacancy. Any student occupying a double room as a single, for any reason, will be charged the private room fee unless otherwise determined by the Assistant Vice President for Campus and Residential Life.

Residence Hall Housing Contract
All residents must sign a residence hall housing contract before they occupy campus housing. This contract outlines all the policies and terms that govern campus housing. Students will complete this contract prior to their occupancy in the residence hall.

Students will be notified of any and all changes in the contract that may occur after they have signed their forms and are responsible for all terms currently applicable.

Residence Hall Solicitation Policy for Off-Campus Groups
The mission of residence life is to provide a quality living/learning environment, thereby nurturing residents’ educational pursuits. Considerable effort is made to maintain privacy and comfort in the residents’ personal rooms. To create a nurturing environment in which residents are free from disruptions, unwanted information, intrusions, materials and services, and for security reasons, any type of soliciting or canvassing is prohibited in university residence halls.

Solicitation is defined as a request made by any person to another person, including but not limited to door-to-door or individual sales, fundraising, distribution, commercial activity, or any other activity that intends to market products, services, or political or religious beliefs. A resident who notices any form of solicitation in the residence halls should immediately notify the area office.

A resident may invite a same-sex representative of a group, organization or business to their room, provided the resident makes the initial contact by express invitation and provided the resident’s roommate gives permission for the resident to extend such an invitation. It is preferable, however, that these meetings take place in a public area rather than in a residence hall room. The use of residence hall lounges, the food court and the University Center is recommended.

Advertisements for an off-campu individual, group, organization or business may be posted on a bulletin board in each residence hall with approval from the residence manager for that facility. To be considered by the residence manager, any advertisement or notice must have a clear statement of the local sponsoring entity. Only one advertisement per individual, group, organization or business may be posted in each residence hall. Advertisements will be posted for a maximum of two weeks and will not be returned. Information for distribution must be taken to the area office and, if approved by the residence life coordinator will be kept there for a limited time for interested students to pick up.

From time to time, there may be outside vendors whose products or services are deemed to be a service to students that would not be in competition with any university agent, group or organization. Such vendors should contact the residence life coordinator.

University Policies
Undergraduate Residence Requirement
The university seeks to foster a spirit of community, benefiting from the full participation of each campus citizen. The student and the community are best served when the student is available to be involved in campus activities. Experience confirms that students who reside on campus are more likely to be fully engaged in their educational experiences, more likely to establish strong interpersonal relationships, and more likely to learn from group and interpersonal interaction.

To maximize the totality of the undergraduate experience, it is recommended that students live on campus until the completion of the bachelor’s degree. Unmarried undergraduate day students under age 21 are required to live on campus unless they live at home with a parent or guardian.

Students who have lived on campus for four academic terms (fall and spring semesters), who are beginning their fifth semester, who have a minimum of 2.5 cumulative grade point average, and who are in good standing with the university, may petition the Office of Residence Life for permission to reside off campus. Students with senior status may live off campus without petition. Undergraduate students at least 22 years of age and graduate students are assigned university housing on a space-available basis after undergraduates are assigned.

During the summer and Jan terms, housing is limited to students enrolled at Samford University during the term, or to students required to be in residence to participate in university-approved activities. During fall and spring semesters, housing is limited to full-time students or to part-time students with special needs. On-campus housing is not available to students over 24 years of age without permission from the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management.

Visitation
Samford University’s visitation policy does not allow members of the opposite sex to visit each other in a student’s room or other nonpublic areas of residence halls or apartments except at designated times. Special days and hours are designated each term in which inter-residence hall visitation is permitted. Students participating in the visitation period must sign their guest in and out in the area office. While a guest is in the room, the door must be propped open a minimum of six inches. All guests must be accompanied by their host at all times during the visitation period.
STUDENTS RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Students are expected to know regulations and policies found in the current university catalog website and student handbook website. Keeping abreast of the school calendar, critical deadlines and all university mail received in one’s university mailbox and/or electronic mail is also the student’s responsibility.

Bill of Rights
The Core Values of Samford University express the ethos of a community that guarantees students an academic environment that encourages inquiry and integrity, promotes personal empowerment and civic engagement, requires accountability, and stimulates the development of Christian character. Enrolled students are entitled to:

- Actively participate in the academic environment without discrimination as to race, disability, age, color, national or ethnic origin, sex, or military status

- Information adequate to understand the requirements of a selected major
- Personal privacy in accordance with university policies and applicable law including the Family Educational Rights & Privacy Act (FERPA)
- Be timely informed of changes to university policies and procedures, catalog, and student handbook
- Be treated with dignity and courtesy in relation to all university services

Campus Demonstrations
Samford University recognizes students’ rights to express freedom of thought, inquiry, speech and lawful assembly in which the students may exhibit their disagreement with issues or current events. While freedom of expression can be important in a change of fundamental ideas, demonstration and/or protest of principles may be permitted provided such actions does not interfere with university programs, the delivery of academic curricula, entrances to buildings, or the normal flow of pedestrian or vehicular traffic. Protests and/or demonstrations must be orderly and should in no way jeopardize the safety of members of the campus or the integrity the property. Protests and demonstrations are not permitted in any areas associated with university residence halls and apartments.

Samford University is a private university and does not permit non-students to participate in protests and/or demonstrations on its property. Students who violate this policy may be subject to disciplinary actions outlined in the Student Handbook.

Code of Values
Statement of Values Preamble
The purpose of this statement is to affirm those basic principles that underlie the rights and responsibilities of the university community.

We as the Samford University community affirm the value of a peaceful and purposeful community, founded on the moral and ethical integrity of students, staff and faculty. We commit ourselves to the Christian values on which Samford University was founded. We expect that our commitment to mutual responsibility and a spirit of cooperation will create a community that is orderly, caring and just.
Values

Worth of the Individual
We value the intrinsic worth of every individual in the community. Our respect for other individuals includes an appreciation of cultural backgrounds different from our own, an understanding of different attitudes and opinions, and an awareness of the consequences of our actions on the broader community. Those values can be violated by behaviors such as harassment, hazing, sexual misconduct, assault, stalking, and relationship violence.

Self-Discipline
We value personal responsibility and recognize the individual’s need for physical, intellectual, spiritual, social and emotional wholeness. We value the full development of every student in terms of a confident and constructive self-image, of a commitment to self-discipline, and of a responsible self-expression. Gambling; disorderly conduct; possessing, consuming or distributing alcohol; intoxication; and possessing, using and distributing illegal drugs are examples of behaviors that violate the value of self-discipline.

Integrity
We value a campus community that encourages personal growth and academic development in an atmosphere of positive Christian influence. We affirm the necessity of academic standards of conduct that allow students and faculty to live and study together. We value the fair and efficient administration of these standards of conduct. These values can be violated by academic dishonesty, fraud and dishonesty.

Respect for Property and the Environment
We value the rights and privileges of owning and using property, both personal and university, and the benefits of preservation and maintenance of property and of our natural resources. In our stewardship of property, we recognize the accountability of our actions to the future of the Samford University community. Stealing or being in the possession of stolen or lost property, vandalism, setting a fire and arson, tampering with fire and safety equipment, possessing firearms or weapons on campus, possessing or using fireworks on campus, unauthorized entry, stealing or unauthorized use or possession of money or other negotiable instruments, and smoking in undesignated smoking areas on campus are examples of behaviors that violate this value.

Respect for Community Authority
We value our privileges and responsibilities as members of the university community and as citizens of the community beyond the campus. We value the community standards of conduct expressed in our system of laws and value the fair administration of those laws, including university, municipal, state and federal laws. These values are violated by aiding, abetting or conspiring to engage in values violations; violating residence-hall visitation guidelines; reckless behavior; lewd and indecent conduct; insubordination; unauthorized and/or unruly demonstrations; driving while impaired; habitually offending motor vehicle rules and regulations; creating a nuisance by talking, yelling, singing or playing a musical instrument, electronic device, etc., loudly enough to disturb members of the university community; committing a city, state or federal crime and excessive parking citations.

Values Violations
Inappropriate behavior can refer to personal or group behavior, on or off campus, which violates values that guide and govern behavior. The values statements are presented in this handbook. Values Violation Process

Reporting
Any student, faculty, staff, parent or guest must submit a written incident report form found online about an alleged values violation before the values violation process officially begins. Incident reports are referred to the values advocate.

Investigation
When the values advocate believes that there is substantial evidence to support the alleged violation, the values advocate arranges a meeting with the student. At the discretion of the values advocate, some incidents may be handled by the Residence Life Community Standards Council.

Notification
The student or student organization will receive notification of the alleged violation along with evidence supporting the possible values violation. Failure to respond to a values notification may result in additional sanctions.

Hearing
The purpose of the values violation process is to educate and provide fundamental fairness to a student or student organization that has possibly violated a Samford University Code of Values. This process allows for a student or student organization to present information related to the incident that possibly violated a stated value. This opportunity is given to the student or student organization during a hearing before a decision is made about the violation and prior to a sanction being imposed.

During the hearing, a student is given the opportunity to admit responsibility to the stated value in writing. If the student admits responsibility the hearing will shift to a discussion focusing on educational sanctions.

If the student does not admit a value has been violated, the university values advocate will proceed with a hearing to determine if a stated value has been violated. Hearings may also include student justices representing the Student Government Association for peer accountability. If the incident is more severe the values advocate can refer the case for a more formal hearing. A formal hearing consists of the case being decided by a Values Council, which consists of faculty, staff, and students. Regardless of the option, the student or student organization will have the opportunity to be heard.
Appeals
A student or student organization may appeal a decision and sanction of the university values advocate or the values council within 48 hours of the notification of outcome and sanctions being received or sent. The only exception is if a student has admitted committing a values violation and a minimum sanction has been assessed.

The reason(s) a student or student organization may appeal a decision include: 1) procedures were not followed; 2) evidence did not justify the results; 3) sanction was not consistent with the nature of the violation; and/or 4) there is new evidence (not available or withheld at the hearing).

A student or student organization that wishes to appeal a decision initiates the process in the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management. The appeal council has the option of hearing or not hearing the appeal. Should the appeal council refuse to hear the appeal, the original decision and sanction will be enforced. The appeal council may after hearing an appeal 1) affirm the original decision and sanctions; 2) affirm the original decision and modify the sanctions; or 3) reverse the decision. A decision of the appeals council is final unless the President of the university requests a review.

Due to the time of year or availability of council members, the values violation process may be abbreviated as deemed necessary by the Values Advocate.

Students Rights in Values Violation Process
A student or student organization that is alleged to be involved in a possible values violation will be granted these rights to assure fundamental fairness in the values violation process:

Advisor: To have a Samford University faculty, staff or student attend the hearing in the role of a friend, advisor or counselor. Advisers may not participate in a hearing. Non-university personnel are not allowed in campus values violation process.

Appeal: To appeal the outcome of a values violation hearing, except when a student admits responsibility for committing a violation and a minimum sanction is given. The Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management has the right to appeal a decision of the values advocate, the values council, or the appeal council to the President of the university if he or she feels that such is necessary to preserve the integrity of the judicial process.

Consultation: Student justices appointed by the Student Government Association are available to serve as consultants with whom students may consult for guidance concerning policies and procedures related to the values process.

Evidence: To know the nature of the information related to the alleged violation and be able to challenge the information in question, in front of accusers, unless there are extenuating circumstances which by doing so might jeopardize the safety or well-being of another.

Hearing: To have an opportunity to be heard in person.

Notice: To be informed of the specific alleged values violation.

Procedures: To be informed of the values violation process.
Witnesses: To be able to offer a defense by having material and/or witnesses speak on one's behalf. It is the accused student’s responsibility to arrange for witnesses to attend a hearing. The values advocate should be notified in advance of any witnesses who will be attending. Witnesses are limited to those relevant to the particular case (no character witnesses).

Written decision: To have a written response reporting the results of the hearing.

Individual Sanctions
A student who is found responsible for a values violation is subject to one or a combination of more than one of the following sanctions: Sanctions are listed in alphabetical order, not in order of severity.

Community Service: A student is required to render a designated number of hours of specified service to the university or the community.

Degree Withholding: A student may not be awarded a degree otherwise earned until the completion of imposed values violation sanctions.

Educational Programming: A student or student organization may be required to complete educational activities including but not limited to seminars, research papers, counseling, or other programs for which there could be an associated fee.

Expulsion: A student’s or a student organization’s status at the university is terminated permanently or for an indefinite period of time. All campus privileges are revoked.

Graduation Clearance: Students who have a values violation pending or who have not completed sanctions imposed by the values advocate, values council or the academic integrity officer, will not be allowed to participate in graduation activities, including commencement exercises. Additionally, the university reserves the right to withhold the degree(s) of any student who has engaged in a values violation, prior to graduation ceremonies, until the issue is completely resolved through the values violation process. The university also reserves the right to revoke the degree(s) of any student who has been found responsible for violating university polices related to the Code of Values or the academic integrity policy. Students who have a values violation pending or have not completed the sanctions given by the values advocate or a values council will not be allowed to participate in graduation activities, including commencement exercises.

Honor Pledge Education: A student meets one-on-one with an SGA student justice to review how the community honor pledge should guide student behavior. The review of the honor pledge is to be reflective and educational.

Loss of Privilege: A student is prohibited from participation in certain co-curricular activities, or university privilege, or serving in a leadership role in a student organization.

Parental Notification: A student’s legal guardians may be notified if the student is under 21 and found responsible for alcohol, drugs, or violence, and is placed on probation, suspended, or expelled from a residence hall or the university.
Probation: A student or student organization receives a formal written warning that conduct is in violation of university policies and status as a student or a student organization is in jeopardy. The continued enrollment of the student or active status of a student organization depends on the maintenance of satisfactory citizenship during the period of probation. The continuation of a student organization to maintain a presence on campus will depend on all members engaging in appropriate behavior during the probation period.

Restitution: A student is required to reimburse or otherwise compensate another or the university for damage or loss of property resulting from a student’s misconduct.

Residential Hall Reassignment: A student is reassigned to another residence hall room or building resulting from a student’s misconduct or harm caused to the residence hall community.

Residence Hall Suspension: A student is excluded from living in university residence halls for a stated period of time, during which the student’s presence in any Samford housing facility is prohibited without permission from the university values advocate.

Scholarship Provider Notification: Samford University provides considerable financial resources to students who have the capacity to contribute to the life and values of the campus community and to benefit from educational experiences offered by the university. If a student receiving institutional aid (e.g., academic, leadership, athletic, ministerial) is found to have committed a values violation and the sanction is loss of privilege, probation, residence hall suspension, university suspension or expulsion, the person and/or department head responsible for recommending the aid award to the student may be notified.

Suspension: A student’s status at the university is terminated for not less than the remainder of the semester, during which time the student’s presence on the Samford University campus is prohibited without permission of the university values advocate. All campus privileges are revoked during the suspension period. A student organization’s suspension will be determined by the nature of the offense. A collaborative decision of pertinent university staff will determine the duration of the student organization’s suspension period.

Warning or Written Reprimand: A student is formally warned or reprimanded.

Miscellaneous
Behavior of Guests
A Samford student is responsible for informing guests of university values. Whenever a guest violates a value, the Samford student will be charged with aiding, abetting or conspiring with the guest to violate the value.

Disciplinary Records
A disciplinary record for non-sexual misconduct violation is maintained for three years whenever a student is found to have committed inappropriate behavior. The three-year period begins on the date a sanction goes into effect. Disciplinary records related for sexual misconduct violations are maintained for seven years.

Off-Campus Conduct
A student who is charged or convicted of a crime off campus will not automatically be charged with a Samford University values violation unless the offense is of a nature that the student is considered to be a threat to the health, safety and welfare of the faculty, staff and students. Whenever that occurs, the student will be required to attend a hearing before either the university values advocate or the values council to offer an explanation as to why the student is not a threat to the health, safety and welfare of the campus community. If a reasonable explanation is not offered, the student will be assessed a sanction ranging from a reprimand to university expulsion. A sanction may be appealed to the appeal council.

Samford University Student Handbook 65

Off-Campus Conduct Abroad
Samford University students studying abroad or representing the university in any capacity in another country must at all times follow university policies and the Code of Values. Students allegedly violating a value while abroad will follow the same values violation process when the student returns from the Samford sponsored trip.

School-Related Activity
Students and student organizations are subject to Samford’s Code of Values while participating in any Samford-sponsored program, activity or event. The term “school-related activity” includes but is not limited to any academic, athletic, extracurricular, social, administrative, work-related or other activity that takes place on or off-campus and is sponsored by any Samford University school, department, or organization.

Code of Values Violation by a Student Organization
Samford University is committed to providing students engagement opportunities designed to develop and enhance students’ social and academic development. Student organizations play a critical role in making the Samford experience special and involvement in these organizations can greatly enhance students’ collegiate experience.

Recognizing the importance of approved student organizations on campus, the Code of Values are structured to provide student organizational leaders guidance and directions in managing their organizations in ways consistent with the mission of Samford University. Student organizations are expected to operate within the stated values of the university. Student organizational activity that violates a stated value may cause the student organization to be cited with a values violation.

A student organization may be found responsible for a values violation when:
- Members collectively engage in behaviors or acts that violate the Code of Values
- Leaders of the student organization, directly or indirectly, intentionally or unintentionally, sanction acts or activities which contradict the mission of the university or violate the Code of Values.
- Members of a student organization participate in activities that violate the Code of Values at events that a reasonable person may conclude are connected to the student organization, or events that immediately precede or follow a student organizational event.

Alcohol and/or Drug violation

- Student organizations are prohibited from sponsoring events with an alcohol distributor or tavern where alcohol is given away, sold or otherwise provided to those present.
- Members are prohibited from sponsoring student organizational meeting or gathering with alcohol present where underage new members are in attendance.

Hazing

The term hazing does not include customary athletic events or similar contests or competitions, and is limited to those actions taken and situation created in connection with initiation into or affiliation with any student organization.

A student organization that has allegedly violated a stated value will be granted the same rights as an individual student. Computing and Information Technology Values and Policies

Preamble
Samford University recognizes the vital importance of computing and information technology resources in accomplishing its mission of nurturing persons. The university has chosen to extend the privilege of using these resources to every member of the Samford community. Those who accept this privilege agree to abide by the values and policies in this document and by all other university values and policies that may apply.

Computing and information technology resources are to be used in a responsible, ethical and legal manner that is consistent with the mission and values of the university as published in documents such as the faculty, staff and student handbooks. The Computing and Information Technology Values and Policies document supplements existing university values and policies.

Scope
These Computing and Information Technology Values and Policies represent official university policy and apply to all use of computing, network, storage, and information technology resources supplied by the university. Included are computers, networks, storage devices, information systems, software, servers, services, the Internet, etc. There are many devices we interface with regularly and the scope is broad and highly varied. Technology is pervasive in the Samford University environment. The primary intent of this document is to encourage appropriate use of university-supplied resources toward accomplishing the mission of the university.

Responsibility
Every individual using computing, network, and information technology resources is responsible for appropriate use. When a specific resource is assigned to a particular individual, that person is responsible for its proper use. For example, the person to whom a computer workstation is assigned is responsible for the appropriate use of that workstation. When a Samford username and password are issued to an individual, that person is responsible for all activities associated with that username. The burden of proper password security is the responsibility of the person to whom the password is assigned.

Freedom of Expression
Responsible expression should be conducted in a manner that is consistent with the mission and values of the university. This precludes forms of expression such as harassment, obscene or pornographic material, and any form of expression excluded by law. Also, freedom of expression does not extend to making official representation on behalf of the university without the approval of the appropriate university official.

Privacy
Samford University owns and provides computing, network, storage, and information technology resources for its purposes. The university monitors access and usage information on its technology resources as part of its operation. The university works to provide a reasonable level of security and privacy in its technology resources. All users should be aware that some common systems, such as email, web browsing, etc., carry no guarantee of privacy or security. Users are expected to understand the risks associated with using technology, and know how to use best practices to protect themselves and their information. Users may not access files, email, computers or other electronic communications and information of another user unless authorized by the user or by designated university officials (as defined in the section on violations) or as required by law. Users should be aware that information sent to another individual or placed in a publicly accessible area could be passed on without the originator’s knowledge.

University activities such as installation, maintenance or troubleshooting of technology systems may sometimes require access to electronic communications, information and transaction logs. Best efforts will be applied to maintain security and privacy.

Private information should not be stored in email, voicemail, social networks, etc. unless secure techniques are used. Of special concern is private, valuable information such as social security number, passport number, driver’s license number, credit or debit card number, checking or savings account number, etc. These numbers should be highly controlled and rarely used.

Confidentiality
Much of the information (e.g. payroll and grade information) stored in computing and information technology systems is considered confidential and in some cases is protected by laws such as the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. Legitimate access to confidential information is determined by factors such as job responsibility or permissions explicitly granted by the owner, or duly appointed steward of the information. Those with such legitimate access to confidential information are to safeguard its confidentiality by knowing to whom such information may be released and by not allowing its release in any form to unauthorized individuals. Access to any resources without proper authorization, whether or not they are considered confidential, is not permitted.

Intellectual Property Rights
Intellectual property rights extend to the electronic medium. Generally, the copyright for a work is owned by the creator of the work. This is true even in cases where the creator has not sought formal copyright protection. One should assume that a work retrieved over a network or by other electronic means is covered by copyright. Such works should not be redistributed unless permission to do so is explicitly given by the owner of the copyright. Making a work available over a network does not necessarily relinquish intellectual property rights, although it must be recognized that one’s work could be widely distributed, which could jeopardize these rights. Computer software and documentation are also covered by copyright. Copying such documentation or software, except as permitted in the copyright notice or software license agreement, is illegal. University resources are not to be used to violate intellectual property rights.

Access to Electronic Materials
Access to a rich set of electronic materials through means such as campus networks and the Internet is an important part of the computing and information technology environment and mission of the university. However, university resources are not to be used to retrieve, store or distribute materials that are inconsistent with the mission and values of the university. For example, university resources are not to be used to retrieve, store or distribute materials that are pornographic.

Shared Resources
Many computing and information technology resources are made available on a shared basis. For example, a networked printer is a resource that is shared by several individuals. Activities that would have a detrimental effect on a resource, such as purposely causing an overload condition that deprives others of its use, are not permitted. For example, chain letters or mass mailings that degrade e-mail system performance are not permitted.
Global Community
With its connection to networks outside the university (such as the Internet), Samford participates in a global electronic community. We must adhere to the policies of these external networks to ensure our continued participation in this community. Use of a resource external to the university must conform to the policies established by the provider of that resource.

Commercial/Personal Use
Commercial use of university resources could endanger its status as a nonprofit organization. Therefore, commercial use is not allowed without permission from the Provost or the executive and Vice President for business and financial affairs. Incidental personal use of computing and information technology resources is permitted as long as it does not have a detrimental effect on university-related use, is noncommercial, and does not present a cost to the university.

Illegal Use
The use of university resources to commit a crime is a violation of university values. This includes activities explicitly covered by laws governing the electronic medium, as well as use of the electronic medium as a means to commit other crimes. Illegal activities will be reported to the appropriate law enforcement authorities.

Violations
Depending on the classification of the individual involved (faculty, staff or student), suspected violations of these values and policies will be confidentially reported to the Provost and executive Vice President, the Vice President for business and financial affairs or the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management. Only these university officials (or the President) may authorize further investigation or review of materials that would otherwise be considered private or confidential. Such authorization is granted on a case-by-case basis. Suspected violations will be processed in a manner consistent with standard university procedures as defined in faculty, staff and student handbooks. An individual's access to certain computing and information technology resources may be suspended during the processing of a suspected violation.

Improper use of computing and information technology may result in the violation of civil law as well as the criminal laws of local, state and federal governments. The investigation of such violations may be conducted entirely without the knowledge or participation of Samford University.

Discontinued Relationship
A username and the accounts associated with it are provided and owned by Samford University. The username and accounts are for the sole use of that user, and their use is for the purposes and intents specified by Samford University. My username and password should not be used for business not associated with Samford University (i.e., online web accounts, data sharing sites, etc.) The user is not allowed to assign the account to another person or to provide passwords or access in any way to another person, either while in a university sanctioned relationship or upon discontinuation of that relationship. Access to any such account requires written approval and specifics of granting (to whom, capabilities defined) by the Vice President for Business and Financial Affairs (or his designee).

Modifications
Changes in technology or law may require regular revision of these values and policies. They will be reviewed at least annually under the direction of the chief information officer. Final authority for changes rests with the President’s cabinet and/or the President. Current copies will be printed in faculty, staff and student handbooks and will be posted electronically on university-wide information servers.
Drug and Alcohol Policy
To comply with the requirements of the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act Amendments of 1989, 20 U.S.C., Section 1145q, and the Drug Free Workplace Act of 1988, 41 U.S.C., Section 701, et. seq, Samford University hereby adopts the following Drug and Alcohol Policy.

Policy
Samford University seeks to foster the development of Christian character, scholastic attainment and a sense of personal responsibility. To fulfill this purpose and to protect and promote the health and welfare of its faculty, staff and students, Samford University is committed to maintaining a drug- and alcohol-free campus. To this end, Samford University is committed to providing drug and alcohol education, information and assistance to its faculty, staff and students. It is the policy of Samford University that the use of illicit drugs or alcohol by faculty, staff or students on campus or in connection with or affecting any school-related activity is strictly prohibited. Violations of this policy will result in the imposition of disciplinary sanctions up to and including termination of faculty and staff, and expulsion of students.

Standards of Conduct
- The use, consumption or possession of alcoholic beverages and the unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession or use of illicit drugs by any faculty member, staff member, student or any other individual on campus or off campus in connection with or affecting any school-related activity is strictly prohibited.

- Containers (bottles, cans, boxes, etc.) that have contained or are designed to contain alcoholic beverages or the presence of such containers on campus (including residence halls) is also prohibited.

- The term “staff” includes all non-faculty personnel employed by Samford University, including student employees under college work-study programs and other institutional programs of student employment.

- The term “illicit drugs” includes any controlled substances listed in 21 U.S.C., Section 812 and other federal regulations, any controlled substances listed in Schedules I-V in Ala Code Section 20-2-22 through Section 20-2-32, and any “legal drugs” which are not prescribed by a licensed physician.

- The term “school-related activity” includes but is not limited to any academic, athletic, extracurricular, social, administrative, work-related or other activity that takes place on the campus of Samford University or on any premises owned by Samford University or that takes place off campus and is sponsored by any Samford University organization.

- Samford students while studying abroad must abide by this drug and alcohol policy while representing Samford University, regardless of age and laws of the host country. Students representing Samford while in other countries must follow the guidelines of what is considered to be a school-related activity. Sponsored school-related activities will be noted in a schedule prior to the trip.
• Any faculty member, staff member, or student violating this policy will be subject to disciplinary procedures, up to and including termination or expulsion, and may be required to participate in a drug and/or alcohol abuse, assistance or rehabilitation program approved for such purposes by a federal, state or local health, law enforcement or another appropriate agency.

• Samford University does not differentiate between drug users and drug pushers or dealers. Any faculty member, staff member or student who gives or in any way transfers drugs to another person, or sells or manufactures drugs on campus or off campus in connection with or affecting any school-related activity, is subject to discipline.

• In addition to subjecting faculty members, staff members and students to its internal disciplinary procedures, Samford University may refer those individuals who violate federal, state or local illicit drug and alcohol laws to the appropriate federal, state or local law enforcement agencies for prosecution.

E-mail as a Means of Official Communication
E-mail is a means of official communication at Samford University, and some communication will be sent only via e-mail. All students, faculty and staff are assigned a Samford e-mail account with an address of the form username@samford.edu. Individuals are responsible for reading mail sent to these accounts and are expected to check their accounts regularly. Individuals are responsible for maintaining their accounts through routine deletion of old mail, etc. to ensure that the accounts always have sufficient space to allow for the delivery of new mail. Samford is not responsible for mail that does not reach recipients when lack of attention to a recipient mailbox prevents message delivery. While Samford may allow the use of other e-mail accounts for some purposes, official communication will be sent only to the samford.edu account. Individuals who choose to automatically forward samford.edu mail to another e-mail account do so at their own risk and are responsible to assure that all mail is properly forwarded. Samford University takes no responsibility for e-mail delivery beyond the assigned samford.edu account.

Equal Opportunity
Samford University complies with applicable laws prohibiting discrimination, including applicable provisions of and amendments to Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Executive Order 11246, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Sections 503 and 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act, the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, and does not unlawfully discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, genetic information, or veteran status in admission or access to, or treatment or employment in, its programs or services.

Inquiries concerning Samford’s nondiscrimination policy or applicable civil rights laws may be directed to the Vice President for business and financial affairs or general counsel, Office of Business and Financial Affairs, Samford Hall 200, Birmingham, AL 35229, 205- 726-2811. This notice is available in alternative formats upon request.

Equity in Athletics Disclosure Act
In accordance with the Equity in Athletics Disclosure Act, all students have the right to request a copy of the Report on Athletic Program Participation Rates and Financial Support Data. These requests should be submitted to the director of athletics.
Family and Educational Rights and Privacy Act

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, popularly known as FERPA, was enacted by Congress to give a measure of control to education records. In general terms, FERPA gives college students the rights to (1) control the disclosure of their education records to others, (2) inspect and review their own education records and (3) request that their education records be amended. These rights are personal to the student and not to the student’s parents or legal guardians. Moreover, the rights granted by FERPA continue until the earlier of the student’s death or the destruction of the subject records.

Central to the scope of FERPA is the definition of “education records,” which consists of records that are directly related to a student and are maintained by the university or by another person or entity acting for the university. Students who wish to review their education records must schedule an appointment with the university registrar.

The school may also disclose education records without consent in a variety of circumstances. These include, without limitation, disclosures to school officials who have a legitimate need to know the information, to other schools to which a student is transferring, to parents if the student is considered a dependent of the parents for federal income tax purposes, in response to a judicial order or lawfully issued subpoena, to parents of a student who is under 21 in connection with a violation of drugs or alcohol policies, to persons who need to know in connection with a health or safety emergency, in connection with a student’s application for financial aid, and to accrediting organizations. Students that do not want directory information to be disclosed without their prior written consent must notify the University Registrar no later than the last day to drop or add courses without financial penalty in a particular academic semester or term. This election may be made at http://www.samford.edu/departments/registrar/ferpa/.

Should a student believe that his or her education records are inaccurate, misleading or include information that violates the privacy rights of the student, the student may request that the university amend the student’s records. A decision on the request will be made within a reasonable period of time after it is received by the university registrar. If the request is denied, the student will be advised of his or her right to a hearing.

Inclusive Language

Language—how it is used and what it implies—plays a crucial role in Samford University’s mission to nurture persons. Because verbal constructions create realities, inclusive language can uphold or affirm those whom the university seeks to nurture, while exclusive language can damage or defeat them. Samford University therefore actively seeks a discourse in its university community that supports the equal dignity and participation of men and women; the university seeks to avoid verbal constructions that diminish the equal dignity of all individuals. It is an affirmative—and affirming—part of Samford University’s mission to educate students, staff and faculty in the creation of a community of equality and respect through language.

Involuntary Withdrawal

Samford University strives to create an academic environment encouraging diversity and the exploration of different cultures and experiences. In designing such an environment, the University assigns priority to preserving conditions which sustain the welfare of students and the community. The purpose of this involuntary withdrawal policy is to provide guidance concerning when and how a student may be involuntarily withdrawn from the university and how to appeal an involuntary withdrawal decision.

A. Bases for Involuntary Withdrawal
Samford University reserves the right to involuntarily withdraw any student from the university if the student, as a result of a physical or psychological condition:

1. Poses a direct threat to the health or safety to self or others (emergency interim withdrawal), or
2. Causes significant property damage or interference with university operations or the educational environment, or
3. Is substantially unable, even with the help of auxiliary aids, to meet his or her responsibilities as a student, or
4. Demonstrates the inability to care for his or her daily physical or mental health needs without assistance and has failed to secure such assistance.

Such withdrawal must be conducted according to the standards and procedures in this policy.

B. Types of Involuntary Withdrawal
Samford University policy allows two types of involuntary withdrawal: (1) emergency withdrawal, where the student presents a direct threat to the health or safety of the student or others, and (2) non-emergency withdrawal. The decision to involuntarily withdraw a student from the university will depend upon an assessment by the Behavioral Intervention Team and meaningful discussions with the student designed to create the best resolution for the student and the University community. In cases of involuntary withdrawal, the student will be provided an opportunity to participate in the university’s assessment concerning the involuntary withdrawal, and to appeal. A student may also be asked to sign waivers permitting information-sharing between treatment providers and university administrators; allowed to voluntarily move to more appropriate housing; or allowed to voluntarily withdraw from the university on a temporary basis until the student is able to obtain treatment or necessary care to diminish any risk of harm.

C. Minimum Standards for Involuntary Withdrawal (medical conditions)
A student may be involuntarily withdrawn from Samford University if there is a determination that the student:

- Poses a direct threat to the health or safety of self or others
- Damages university property or demonstrates behavior that is disruptive to university operations, to academic programs, or to the educational environment
- Is substantially unable, even with the help of auxiliary aids, to meet his or her responsibilities as a student
- Demonstrates the inability to care for his or her daily physical or mental health needs without assistance and has failed to secure such assistance.

D. Requirements for Involuntary Withdrawal
1. Concern must be voiced by one or more individuals who have direct contact and experience with the student in question; information can be obtained from a family member, faculty, staff, student, or other member of the university’s community.
2. A clinical assessment of the student of concern may be required. Clinical assessment, in addition to direct assessment, may include review of information presented by others. Additional information may be obtained from external sources or resources who may be in a position to provide direct information that should be considered in the decision to involuntarily withdraw a student.
3. Based on the assessment and other pertinent information, the Assistant Vice President for Student Development or his/her designee will notify the student in writing or orally (depending on the urgency of the situation) to attend an informal meeting with the Assistant Vice President for Student Development for the purpose of determining whether the student should be withdrawn. The request will include a statement of the reasons for university concern. The Assistant Vice President for Student Development will meet with the student to give him/her an opportunity to respond to concerns related to the student’s behavior. The university counselor may also attend the meeting, as well as other appropriate personnel. At the meeting, the reasons for the university’s concern regarding the student will be stated and the student will be given an opportunity to respond to these concerns. If, after the meeting, the student is found not to fall within one of the four categories described in section A, he or she will be notified in writing by the Assistant Vice President for Student Development and allowed to continue as a student.

4. If the student fails to attend the meeting or after the meeting there continues to be a concern related to the student’s behavior, the student will be given an opportunity to voluntarily withdraw from the university. If the student agrees to voluntarily withdraw from the university, regular withdrawal procedures will be followed. However, the student may be permitted to voluntarily withdraw without grades if, in the judgment of the Assistant Vice President for Student Development and a university counselor, circumstances warrant such action.

5. If the student refuses to voluntarily withdraw, the Assistant Vice President for Student Development may, on the recommendation of a university counselor or other licensed mental health clinician, authorize an involuntary withdrawal and provide the student with notice of the decision and the right to appeal.

6. The student will be provided information related to conditions that must be met prior to his/her return to the university. In all involuntary withdrawals due to medical situations, the student will provide documentation by a licensed mental health provider that he/she is no longer a threat and able to resume academic workload. In addition, student may be required to be assessed by Counseling Services to confirm safety of student.

7. If the student does not appeal within two school days, the right to appeal will be considered waived and he/she will be involuntarily withdrawn.

8. If the student does appeal, he/she will remain enrolled until the appeal is completed.

E. Emergency Interim Withdrawal
A student who poses a direct threat to the health or safety of self or others may be involuntarily withdrawn on an interim basis by the Assistant Vice President for Student Development using an emergency withdrawal. For emergency withdrawals, the following procedure applies:

1. Prior to an emergency withdrawal, the university must make an individualized assessment of the student based on reasonable medical judgment and relying on the most current medical knowledge and/or the best available objective evidence. The assessment must determine the nature, duration and severity of the risk; the probability that the potentially threatening injury will actually occur; and whether reasonable modifications of policies, practices or procedures will sufficiently mitigate the risk for withdrawal to be unnecessary.

2. A student withdrawn on an interim basis must be given an opportunity to appear before the Assistant Vice President for Student Development within two school days after the date of the emergency withdrawal to review the following issues only:
   a. The reliability of the information concerning the student’s behavior; and
   b. Whether the student poses a risk of harm to the health or safety of him/herself or others.

3. Unless the Assistant Vice President for Student Development determines otherwise, the student will remain withdrawn on an interim basis pending completion of the university’s assessment, after which the procedures in (D, 2–7) of this policy will be followed and a determination made concerning involuntary withdrawal.
F. Involuntary Withdrawal Appeal Process
   1. Within 48 hours of receiving notice of an involuntary withdrawal decision, a student may appeal the involuntary withdrawal determination to the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management. The request for an appeal must be in writing and it must outline the reasons the involuntary withdrawal should be reversed. The Vice President will determine if the student’s behavior meets the criteria for involuntary withdrawal.
   2. The Vice President of Student Affairs and Enrollment Management may require the student, at his or her expense, to obtain a psychiatric/medical evaluation from sources external to the university to be considered as evidence. The hearing shall be conversational and non-adversarial and formal rules of evidence will not apply.
   3. The Vice President of Student Affairs and Enrollment Management will provide a written decision to the student.
   4. The decision of the Vice President of Student Affairs and Enrollment Management is final and not subject to appeal.

G. Effects of Involuntary Withdrawal
   - The student must leave the university immediately, or as directed, and will not be permitted on university property, or to attend any university function, without the written approval of the Assistant Vice President for Student Development.
   - The Assistant Vice President for Student Development will inform campus individuals of the withdrawal on a need-to-know basis. If the individual is under 21 years of age, the Assistant Vice President for Student Development will notify the parents.
   - A notation of withdrawal will appear on the student’s transcript for all classes taken during the semester.

H. Return to Campus
   - A student wishing to be considered for re-enrollment should contact the Assistant Vice President for Student Development and provide appropriate documentation of resolution of the issue(s) that lead to involuntary withdrawal, including compliance with all conditions of re-enrollment.
   - Prior to returning to campus, the student must:
     o Submit documentation from a licensed professional to the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management clearly indicating the student no longer demonstrates behavior which led to the involuntary withdrawal
     o If continuing care is prescribed by a treatment provider, submit a treatment plan from an appropriate care provider outlining care the student will receive and maintain in order to deter unwanted disrupted behavior
     o Schedule periodic meetings with Samford staff person designated to assess if the student is complying with any treatment plan.
   - The student will meet with the Assistant Vice President for Student Development to discuss compliance and conditions for re-enrollment and behavior, which could result in continuation of the involuntary withdrawal.

I. Disciplinary Action
Involuntary withdrawal is administrative rather than punitive and is not a substitute for disciplinary action. If a student is accused of a student conduct violation, he/she will be subject to the disciplinary process unless the student either lacks capacity to respond to the charges or did not understand the nature or quality of the act in question due to a medical or psychological condition. The Assistant Vice President for Student Development will determine whether each individual case should be handled under this policy, under disciplinary procedures, or both.

J. Deviations from Procedures
Reasonable deviations from these procedures will not invalidate a decision or proceedings unless significant prejudice to a student may result.

Political Activity
As a private nonprofit institution of higher education whose activities are regulated in part by Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, the University may not participate in, or intervene in any political campaign of a candidate for public office. However, members of the University community are encouraged to fulfill their civic responsibilities as private citizens. There are no restraints upon a student’s personal political activity, provided the student is acting as a private citizen and not representing the University.

No University facilities, resources, time or property may be used for or on behalf of any political candidate, campaign or organization including, but not limited to, the Samford University seal, campus images, and all logos and identifying marks.

The Internal Revenue Code permits tax-exempt organizations like Samford University to sponsor political forums, candidate speeches and/or debates in a neutral and nonpartisan manner in which no candidate directly or indirectly receives an endorsement, preference, or support from the University. At the beginning of any such political forum, candidate speech or debate, a representative of the sponsoring group or organization shall deliver the following disclaimer: “This event is sponsored by ____________. The use of Samford University facilities for this event does not constitute an endorsement by the University. Samford University does not endorse or oppose any candidate or organization in connection with any political campaign or election.”

The Samford University campus is private property. Campaign signs cannot be placed on University property, including university property along Lakeshore Drive. Signs placed in violation of this policy will be removed.

Inquiries concerning this policy should be directed to the Office of Student Affairs.

Research Activities Policy
Any individual student or student organization desiring to conduct a research project involving human subjects is required to obtain approval of the study from the Samford University Institutional Review Board for Human Subjects. Full explanation of procedures to be implemented as well as necessary forms are available online at http://www.samford.edu/IRB. Any student planning to conduct research involving human subjects should meet with a faculty adviser as soon as possible so that there will be no delay in obtaining approval and meeting course requirement deadlines.

Search Policy
Samford University respects a student’s right to privacy and guards against arbitrary and unnecessary intrusion. If there is probable and reasonable cause to believe that health, safety or welfare activities are taking place that are detrimental to the university community, or if there is probable and reasonable cause to believe that contraband is present or activities are occurring that would constitute a values violation and inappropriate behavior, the university will use the following procedures in a search.
Searches must be approved in writing using a Samford University authorization form, except when verbal permission to search is given by the occupant of the room being searched. Only the director of public safety or a public safety supervisor, Assistant Vice President for residential services, assistant director of residence life, a residence life coordinator, a residence manager, the Assistant Vice President for Student Development and values advocate or the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management can authorize a search, which will be conducted by at least two university employees, one or more of whom may be resident assistants. Reasonable effort will be made to make the search in the presence of an occupant of the room or the person who registered the vehicle on campus. In situations where it is deemed that a delay to obtain authorization constitutes a danger to individuals or property or destruction or disposal of contraband, the room or vehicle will be entered and searched without authorization. Searches can be conducted without authorization when an official is in pursuit, the student gives permission or contraband is in plain view.

A list of objects/items taken as the result of a search will be signed by all individuals involved in the search and witnesses. A copy of the list will be left with an occupant of the room; or in the event no occupant was present during the search, a copy will be left in the room. Any occupant present during the search will be asked to sign the authorization form with a listing of objects/items being removed, not as an admission of guilt, but to confirm the items taken.

Student Identification
Each student is required to have a current student ID card—a picture identification card issued by Samford University. The card is issued the first semester students are enrolled and is automatically validated each semester thereafter. A replacement card can be issued in the Office of Public Safety. Students must show their ID cards upon the request of a faculty member, staff member, administrative official, transportation official, or public safety officer.
TITLE IX SEXUAL MISCONDUCT POLICY

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 states: “No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance”. Sexual violence is a form of sexual harassment prohibited by Title IX. In addition to the 1972 definition of discrimination on the basis of sex, Federal legislation of 2001 and 2006 identify sexual assault and sexual harassment as policy violations which are to be specifically dealt with by universities receiving any Federal funding.

Samford University complies with applicable laws prohibiting discrimination, including applicable provisions of and amendments to Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Executive Order 11246, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Sections 503 and 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act, the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, and does not unlawfully discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, genetic information, or veteran status in admission or access to, or treatment or employment in, its programs or services.

Samford University is a Christian institution of higher education that has a moral commitment to the worth and dignity of all individuals. Samford’s policy of opposition to sexual harassment and sexual assault is not only a legal responsibility and practical utility, but stems from the University’s profound commitment to Christian and moral values as expressed in its mission and purpose.

Definitions

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a federal law that provides guidance related to the dissemination of students’ educational records. FERPA applies to all educational institutions that receive any type of federal funding administered by the United States Department of Education. In accordance with FERPA guidance, the Samford University may disclose the final results of a disciplinary proceeding if the institution determines a student violated the university’s policy related to sexual misconduct.

Complainant refers to the person who alleges a Title IX violation occurred.

Confidential resource refers to university employee who is not required to disclose information related to a crime, unless there is a threat of safety to a person or property. See additional handbook information in the section entitled “Confidential Resources”.

Consent means words or actions that show an active, knowing and voluntary agreement to engage in mutually agreed upon sexual activity. Consent cannot be gained by force, by coercion, by ignoring or acting in spite of the objections of another, or by taking advantage of the incapacitation of another, where the actor knows or reasonably should have known of such incapacitation. Intoxication is not an excuse for failure to obtain consent. Consent is also lacking when the activity in question exceeds the scope of consent previously given.

Domestic violence is defined as intentional intimidation, physical assault, sexual assault and/or other abusive behavior conducted as a systematic pattern of behavior committed against another. A consistent element of domestic violence is one partner’s attempt to maintain control or power over another.
Force is defined as the use of physical violence or physical imposition against another to gain sexual access or cause one to act or submit to an act against their will. In addition to physical acts, force can be displayed in the form of threats, intimidation and/or coercion.

Hostile Environment exists when unwelcomed conduct of a sexual or gender-based nature is significantly present to deny or limit a student’s ability to participate in or benefit from the university’s educational activities or programs.

Incapacitation means the physical and/or mental inability to make informed, rational judgments. States of incapacitation include, without limitation, sleep, blackouts and flashbacks. Where an intoxicant is involved, incapacitation is a state of intoxication where the intoxicant consumed impairs a person's decision-making capacity, awareness of consequences and ability to make fully informed judgments. Incapacitation may be due to a person's mental ability or age. In the state of Alabama, a person under the age of 16 cannot agree to engage in sexual behavior.

Non-consensual sexual contact is defined as intentional sexual contact, however slight with any object by a person upon another without consent and/or by force.

Respondent refers to the person accused of a Title IX violation.

Responsible employee refers to university personnel who are required to report any act of relationship violence to which he/she has knowledge.

Sexual Assault is defined as physical sexual acts perpetrated against a person’s will or where a person is incapable of giving consent due to the victim’s use of drugs or alcohol. An individual also may be unable to give consent due to an intellectual or other disability. A number of different acts fall into the category of sexual assault, including but not limited to rape, fondling, sexual battery and sexual coercion. All such acts of sexual violence are forms of sexual harassment prohibited by Title IX.

Sexual Contact means the deliberate touching of a person’s intimate body parts, or using force or coercion to cause a person to touch his or her own or another person’s intimate parts.

Sexual Coercion is defined as the act of using unreasonable pressure to gain consent for sexual activity, using alcohol and drugs to lower another’s inhibitions, or the use of force to have sexual contact with someone against his or will. Such behavior includes but is not limited to verbal pressure, emotional pressure, threats, lying, blackmailing, use of alcohol or drugs to take advantage of another, use of guilt, use of his/her position of authority over another.

Sexual Exploitation means taking sexual advantage of another person without consent, and includes, without limitation, causing or attempting to cause the incapacitation of another person; electronically recording, photographing or transmitting intimate sounds or images of another person; and/or allowing third parties to observe sexual acts.

Sexual Harassment is conduct, including physical contact, advances and comments in person and/or via phone, text message, email or other electronic medium that is (1) unwelcome, (2) based on sex or gender stereotypes and (3) is so severe or pervasive that it unreasonably interferes with a person’s academic performance or equal opportunity to participate in or benefit from university programs or activities. Sexual harassment may include, depending upon the facts, persistent and unwelcome efforts to develop a romantic or sexual relationship; persistent and unwelcome commentary about an individual’s body or sexual activities; threatening to engage in the commission of a sexual act with another person; stalking or cyber stalking; and engaging in indecent exposure. Title IX and this policy prohibit gender-based harassment, which may include acts of verbal, nonverbal or physical aggression, intimidation, or hostility based on gender, even if those acts do not involve conduct of a sexual nature.

Sexual Misconduct of any kind is inconsistent with the university’s values and incompatible with the safe, healthy, Christian environment that the Samford University community expects. Sexual misconduct prohibited by this policy encompasses sexual harassment, sexual assault, non-consensual sexual contact and sexual exploitation.

Stalking is defined as any repeated behavior that reasonably and/or seriously alarms, torments, or terrorizes another person to be fearful of harm or danger to themselves or others close to them. Examples include spying on a person; waiting or showing up at locations; following or pursuing another person; vandalism; gathering of information about a person from others; non-consensual communication and physical contact.

Reporting Sexual Misconduct
In agreement with the university Title IX policy, any member of the Samford community can report a complaint of sexual misconduct against a “Samford student”. A “Samford student” is an individual who is registered or enrolled at the University (a) at the time of the alleged sexual misconduct (including sexual misconduct that is alleged to have occurred during any academic recess, provided that there is an expectation of such student’s continued enrollment at the university), and (b) at the time that a formal complaint against such student is received by the university Title IX coordinator. This policy applies to any allegation of sexual misconduct against a Samford student, regardless of where the alleged violation occurred; there is no geographical limitation to invoking this policy.

Reporting an incident of sexual misconduct is a difficult decision. It is important to understand that filing a report of sexual misconduct can be a beginning to the healing process. Reporting or pressing charges can prevent an offender from harming another person.

How to report
Acts of sexual violence that occurs off campus can be reported to the local police department by calling 911.

Sexual misconduct/violence that occur on campus can be reported to Public Safety by calling 911 or 205-726-2020. Filing a report with the Public Safety office does not automatically indicate criminal charges will be forth coming. Reporting an incident to Public Safety provide a complainant an opportunity to better understand options available with the police department.

In addition to reporting to a law enforcement agency, an individual who has been subjected to or has knowledge of an act sexual misconduct is urged to report the incident to the university Title IX coordinator. Individuals can file a report with the Title IX coordinator by either of the following:

- Report Relationship Violence form
- Values Violation Report
- Calling 205-726-2764
Resources

Confidential Resources
Confidential resources are provided to offer individuals a safe space to discuss options, learn about resources and discuss any concerns before deciding to take next steps. Individuals who consult with a confidential resource are advised their discussions are not considered reports of sexual misconduct, sexual harassment or sexual violence. Without additional action by the individual, discussions with the confidential resource will not result in any action by the university to resolve the concern. Unless there is an immediate risk of harm or danger, confidential resources cannot share information without a person’s express consent.

Confidential resources do not have any formal authority to render decisions about issues brought to their attention, and they do not participate in formal disciplinary hearings or processes.

Confidential, non-reporting resources are:

- University Health Services
  - Mr. Leslie Canfield
  - Nurse Practitioner

- Office of Counseling Services

Title IX Policy Enforcement

Amnesty statement—Samford’s goal is to encourage the reporting of incidents of sexual misconduct so those affected can receive the support and resources needed. Therefore, values violations by a complainant may be exempt from disciplinary action in situations where the reported sexual misconduct or harassment also occurred, provided that such violations did not jeopardize the health or safety of others.

Disciplinary actions for students—Sexual misconduct is a violation of Samford University’s Code of Values. Investigation of sexual misconduct will be conducted by the deputy Title IX coordinator for student, the Title IX coordinator, or the public safety department. A student’s determination of responsibility for a Title IX violation will be made by the Title IX Review Committee. Sanctions for students found responsible for such violation range from probation to expulsion from the university. In some instances, while an incident of sexual misconduct is being investigated, the university may implement interim measures as discussed more fully below.

Faculty and Staff Title IX violation—Policy violations attributed to faculty and staff violations of the university Title IX policy are indicated in the human resources policy manual.

Retaliation

It is a violation of university policy to retaliate against any person making a complaint of sexual misconduct or against any person cooperating in the investigation of alleged acts of sexual misconduct. Certain retaliatory acts may also subject the perpetrator to criminal prosecution. Retaliation includes but is not limited to... intimidation, threats or harassment against any complainant or third party. Individuals who are alleged to engage in retaliatory tactics may face disciplinary action independent of the sanction or interim measures imposed in response to the underlying allegations of sexual misconduct. Retaliation should be reported promptly to the Title IX coordinator.

Effect of Criminal Proceedings
Because sexual assault may constitute both a violation of university policy and criminal activity, the university encourages students to report alleged sexual assault promptly to local law enforcement agencies. Criminal investigations may be useful in the gathering of relevant evidence, particularly forensic evidence. Because the standards for finding a violation of criminal law are different from the standards for finding a violation of this policy, criminal investigations or reports are not determinative of whether sexual assault, for purposes of this policy, has occurred. The filing of a complaint of sexual assault under this policy is independent of any criminal investigation or proceeding, and (except that the university’s investigation may be delayed temporarily while the criminal investigators are gathering evidence) the university may not wait for the conclusion of any criminal investigation or proceedings to commence its own investigation and may take interim measures to protect the complainant and the university, if necessary.

Complainant does not wish to pursue a Formal Hearing or Requests Anonymity
If the complainant does not wish to pursue a formal hearing and/or requests that his or her complaint remain anonymous, Title IX nevertheless requires the university to investigate and take reasonable action in response to the complainant’s report. The Assistant Vice President for Student Services will inform the complainant the university’s ability to respond may be limited if the complainant is not a participant in the investigation. In such cases, Title IX requires the university to evaluate the complainant’s request that the complaint not be subject to a formal hearing or remain anonymous in the context of the university’s commitment to provide a reasonably safe and non-discriminatory environment for all students. Even if the university cannot take disciplinary action against the responder student, because the complainant insists on anonymity or that the complaint not be subject to formal review, Title IX nonetheless requires the university to take prompt and effective action to limit the effects of the alleged sexual assault or harassment and to prevent its recurrence.

Interim Measures
In all cases of alleged sexual misconduct, regardless of whether the complainant wishes to pursue a formal hearing, the university will undertake an appropriate inquiry and take prompt and effective action to support and protect the complainant, including taking appropriate interim steps before the final outcome of the investigation and hearing, if any. The Title IX coordinator, may impose a no-contact order, which typically will include a directive that the parties refrain from having contact with one another, directly or through proxies, whether in person or via electronic means, pending the investigation. The Title IX coordinator may take other protective action deemed appropriate, including, without limitation, directing appropriate university officials to alter the students’ academic schedule, university housing and/or university employment arrangement.

Incident Review
The information below provides guidance of how a typical sexual misconduct violation will be managed. However, circumstances may arise which dictate modification of indicated procedures until such time that statuses permit processes proceed.

When a complainant reports an alleged act of sexual misconduct, the Title IX coordinator will initiate an investigation into the incident within 48 hours. A typical investigation will be completed within 60 days, if not sooner. The Title IX coordinator will prepare a written report that will be distributed concurrently to both parties and, in a case where the responder is a student, to the Title IX review committee.

The Title IX review committee assigned to review Title IX violations consist of a five-member panel chosen from a pool of campus employees who are trained to review such violations. The panel will be composed of a faculty chair, two faculty members and two staff members. All members of the panel will vote by secret ballot. In addition to council members, individuals allowed in the hearing room will be the Title IX coordinator, complainant, respondent and students selected or appointed advisors. Approved witnesses will be called into the hearing room at the discretion of the faculty chair. The Title IX coordinator will have the responsibility of assuring hearing procedures follow guidelines stipulated by Title IX policies and procedures, and that the rights of the complainant and the respondent are protected.

The complainant may choose to participate in the hearing in an on-campus location separate from the respondent. If there is a separate location for the complainant, the Title IX coordinator will arrange for:

- Audio participation for the complainant; video participation will be made when available.
- A committee member to be present with the complainant and his/her advisor.
- Supplies that can be used to follow review hearing procedures. The committee member assigned to the separate location will:
  - Make sure committee hearing procedures are followed
  - No one other than the complainant and his/her advisor are in the hearing location
  - Read all questions submitted by the complainant that are to be directed to the chair/respondent

Students Rights in the Review Process
A student charged with a Title IX violation will be granted these rights to assure fundamental fairness in the review process:

Notice: To be informed of the alleged violation and the nature of his/her involvement

Procedures: To be provided oral or written explanation of the procedures used to review the allegation and to be provided an explanation of possible outcomes

Hearing: To have an opportunity to respond to the allegation(s) before a decision of responsibility is made

Evidence: To know the information that supports the alleged violation and to be able to challenge the information in question in the presence of an independent review group/person.

Witnesses: To be able to challenge an allegation by having material or others speak on his behalf. It is the respondent’s responsibility to arrange for witnesses to attend a hearing. The Title IX coordinator should be notified in advance of any witnesses who will be attending.

Adviser: To have a person of his/her choice attend a hearing with them.

Written decision: To have a written response reporting the outcome of the hearing.

Appeal: To appeal the outcome of a Title IX review hearing in accordance with guidelines outlined in the procedures to review a policy violation.
Title IX Review Process
The following procedures guide the review of alleged Title IX violations. While the procedures are a guide, the guidelines may be abbreviated or modified due to the nature of the allegations, calendar conflicts related to council members or student's availability, external criminal investigation, or the security of the campus environment.

In all cases a preponderance of the evidence standard (i.e. it is more likely than not that the sexual misconduct occurred) will be used to determine if a policy has been violated.

- Any member of the Samford community can file a complaint of sexual misconduct against a Samford student by filing an incident report with the Title IX coordinator. While it is best that the victim files the report, based on the circumstance of the case, a report may be filed by a third party.

- Upon receipt of a complaint, the Title IX coordinator will initiate an investigation into the allegation(s). Based on information gathered, the Title IX coordinator will decide if the described incident violates university policy.

- Once there is a determination that the described information violates university policy, the respondent will receive written notification of the alleged violation and a written description of the incident that precipitated charge.

- Within 48 hours of receiving notification of the charge, the respondent must provide the Title IX coordinator a written response to the alleged violation. The respondent will have an opportunity to admit or deny responsibility and offer an initial description of his/her perception of the events in question. Failure to provide a written response could result in campus restrictions and/or charges.

- After receiving the respondent’s response, the Title IX coordinator will prepare a written summary of the information gathered and distribute the report concurrently to the complainant and respondent, as well as the chair of the Title IX review committee.

- The Title IX coordinator will schedule a committee hearing to review the incident in question. The respondent and complainant will be informed of the date, time, and location of the hearing. The complainant and respondent will be afforded similar and timely access to information that will be presented in the hearing. Access to information will be provided consistent with FERPA guidelines and relevant Title IX guidelines. In the hearing the following procedures will be used:

  - The faculty chair will call the hearing to order, at which time the audio or video recorder will be turned on. Individuals present, will be asked to self-identify for the recording.
  - Based on the nature of the incident, the complainant may be given an opportunity to provide testimony in a location different from the respondent.

  - Individuals permitted in the hearing room (including any alternative location) will be the complainant, respondent, advisers to the participants, review committee members and chair. Witnesses and the investigator will be called into the room as needed. The Title IX coordinator reserves the right to set in on any hearing.
    - During the hearing, advisers are restricted from talking during the review. Violation of this restriction will result in the adviser being ejected from the hearing.
At any time during the hearing, the complainant or respondent may request a small break of time to speak with his/her adviser.

- The faculty chair, or the Title IX coordinator, will provide an understanding of the allegation and the participants involved.
- The investigator will provide an overview and summary of information obtained during his/her investigation of the suspected violation.
- The complainant and the respondent will be provided an opportunity to respond and ask any questions related to the investigator’s report.
- All questions will be asked by the chair or members of the review committee. The respondent will not be able to directly question the complainant and vice versa.
  - Participants’ questions will be written on note cards and submitted to the chair (note cards will be provided). Submitted questions will be reviewed for appropriateness and relevance. Approved questions will be read aloud by the chair, or his designate, for the intended participant’s response. The chair has sole discretion of questions to be delivered.
- Information pertinent to the incident review will be given by investigator, witnesses, the complainant, and the respondent. The complainant and the respondent will have equal opportunity to present relevant information during the review hearing.
  - Character witnesses are not permitted to present information during the hearing, but may be permitted to present information after the committee’s deliberation and prior to sanctions being imposed.
- After all testimony is heard and evidence received, the committee will hold deliberations and have up to 10 days to render a decision related any responsibility and sanctions. Within three days from the date the decision is made, the Title IX coordinator will provide to both parties a copy of the review committee’s written decision.
- In addition to the respondent and the Title IX coordinator, imposed sanctions will be communicated to the complainant and the vice president of student affairs and enrollment management. The respondent or the complainant may appeal the hearing’s outcome based on permitted grounds for an appeal (See appeal process).

Sanctions
A student responsible for the commission of a university Title IX violation may be subject to one or more sanctions deemed appropriate by the review committee. Sanctions imposed for misconduct of a sexual nature may be determined by such factors as the nature of the offense, impact of the behavior, egregiousness of the behavior, prior related behavior, and/or previous conduct violations. Available sanctions include:

Expulsion: Permanent dismissal from the university with no right for future readmission under any circumstances. A student expelled from the university is barred from all university property and may be subject to trespass and arrest if he/she returns to campus.
Suspension: Mandatory separation from the university for a specified period of time. During the suspension period, the student is not allowed on university property and is barred from participation in any university function or activity. Suspensions from the university may range from one semester to several years.

Interim suspension: Temporary separation from the university until a final determination is made of whether or not a student has committed the reported offense.

Disciplinary probation: A disciplinary sanction that provides notice to a student that his/her behavior is in serious violation of university values and such behavior could jeopardize the student’s continuation with the university. If a student violates any Code of Values or commits another Title IX violation while on disciplinary probation, the student will be immediately suspended.

Campus restriction or revocation of privileges: Temporary or permanent loss of campus privileges, including but limited to, use of a particular university facility or service (fitness center, library, parking garage, etc.), use of residential housing, and/or participation in campus programs/activities (Greek Life, campus recreation, leadership programs, etc.).

Termination or change in accommodation: A disciplinary sanction that requires termination or change in a student’s employment assignment or schedule, campus housing assignment, class schedule, and/or exam schedule.

Other appropriate action: The university Title IX coordinator and the vice president for student affairs and enrollment management reserves the authority to outline other sanctions not listed. Such sanctions may include required relationship counseling, restitution for damages, etc.

Appeal Process
The request for an appeal of the review committee’s decision is to a three-member appeal committee. The committee is made up of faculty and staff members who have been trained to manage campus Title IX violations and who know the university’s enforcement procedures.

Reasons for an Appeal
Either party engaged in a Title IX incident may request an appeal of the review committee’s decision. The written request for an appeal must be delivered to the Title IX coordinator within five business days of notice of the decision. The grounds for an appeal shall be limited to the following:

- University procedures and regulations related to the review process were not followed; or
- New and compelling evidence that was not available at the time of the hearing is now available or recently discovered; or
- The sanction(s) do not relate appropriately to the violation(s).

The written appeal request must detail the basis (grounds for the appeal) for the appeal and it must be received in the Title IX coordinator’s office within five business days of the committee’s decision being sent, which will be delivered to the participant’s Samford University issued email address. Upon receipt of the written request for an appeal, the Title IX coordinator will notify the other party that an appeal request has been received and will provide that person five business days to submit any written information he/she feels important to the outcome. The written appeal must clearly state the basis for the appeal and why the petitioner believes the appeal should be granted.
The appeal request and subsequent information will be delivered to a three-person appeal committee. Members of the appeal committee will independently review the information submitted. Each member of the appeal committee will have one vote. In order for a request for an appeal to be acted on, two out of three members must vote to take action on the request. Actions the appeal committee may put into effect:

- Affirm the original decision and sanction
- Return the case to the original hearing body due to:
  - The discovery of a procedural error
  - Reconsideration (the reconsideration of the hearing body is not appealable)
  - New and compelling evidence that was not available at the time of the original hearing
- Order a new hearing before a different Title IX review committee. Reconsideration by a new committee is not appealable.

Once the appeal committee decides, it will be delivered to the Title IX coordinator who will communicate the decision to the complainant and the respondent. The outcome of a reconsideration review or a different council review is not appealable.

Additional Petition for Decision of Expulsion
After the completion of the appeal process, a student expelled from Samford University will have five days, from the day of the notification, to request reconsideration of the expulsion by the vice president of Student Affairs and Enrollment Management. The decision of the vice president of Student Affairs and Enrollment Management is final.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASE POLICY

Because of the seriousness of communicable diseases, and to protect the rights of those afflicted and the safety and welfare of others, Samford University has established a policy for students. Administration of this policy relies upon the initiative of the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management where students are concerned.

Communicable diseases/conditions are those listed as reportable by the State of Alabama Bureau of Disease Control (see list below). The Office of Human Resources and University Health Services will answer inquiries from students as to which diseases are reportable and will provide other information concerning these diseases. These departments shall not release to anyone any information concerning a student who is or may be afflicted with a communicable disease, except as required by law.

Students who know or who have reasonable basis for believing they are or may be infected by a communicable disease shall immediately report the same to the medical staff at University Health Services. This information will be treated confidentially, except as otherwise required by law, and may be used by the university to make accommodations for the student’s medical and educational needs.

Students infected with communicable diseases shall not automatically be excluded from initial enrollment or otherwise restricted in their access to the university’s facilities or services unless, upon being informed a student has a communicable disease, the university (its decision process coordinated through the Vice President for Student Affairs and Enrollment Management) determines that exclusion or restriction is necessary to protect the welfare of the infected student or others. In making this determination, University Health Services may determine it is necessary to consult with the student’s primary care physician or, with the student’s knowledge and consent, other appropriate individuals.

Students who acquire chickenpox while residing on campus will be required to leave campus until it is determined by their health-care provider or University Health Services they are no longer contagious to others.

The student complaint form is to be used by any student who wishes to file a grievance about his/her perceived treatment/interaction with a member of the university community or a service offered at the university.
