

Center for SCIENCE and RELIGION

First Baptist Church, Montgomery
Tuesday, Jan. 19
8:30 a.m.–12:15 p.m.

The Samford University Center for Science and Religion will present a free interdenominational workshop for pastors, exploring how faith and emerging science can enrich each other.

Samford faculty will lead discussions on the following topics:

The Seven Deadly Sins of Science and Religion
Dr. Steve Donaldson

Why do People have Trouble with Evolution?
Dr. Wilton Bunch

Is There a Place for the Soul in a Physical Brain?
Dr. George Keller

Christianity and Science: The Key Issues
Dr. Josh Reeves

Refreshments and lunch will be provided for registered participants.

To register, email Josh Reeves
jareeves@samford.edu | 205-726-2940

This workshop is one in a series funded by a generous grant from the John Templeton Foundation.

SAMFORD
UNIVERSITY
CENTER FOR SCIENCE & RELIGION

www.samford.edu/scienceandreligion